IT IS suggested that 19 old churches in London, threatened with demolition, some designed by Sir Christopher Wren, be removed and set up in the United States.

Better spend the money for a monument to Wren, one of the world's great men. He was a great architect, great mathematician and a great astronomer.

LAST words of great men are piously collected. Frederick the Great's "Tete D'Armee," Pitt's, "My Country, How I Love Thee," or "How I Leave Thee," Goethe's "More Light," etc.

A YOUNG policeman, Frank Murphy, killed by bandits in the course of duty, said to his captain, who condoled with him, as he lay dying "That's all right, cap, it's all in the job." Those last words are as good as any.

NEWS comes from Denmark on uprisings in Russia, stories of Trotzky leading military revolts.

The Russian government has power, first of all the power of revolution, which is great. It enabled French revolutionists to conquer and terrorize European countries.

The revolution in Russia possesses the power that comes of giving land to people working on it.

HERE a religious-political fight starts two years ahead of time. Bishop Adna W. Leonard, general superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church in New York, attacking Governor Al Smith, says "no governor, be he nullificationist or not, can kiss a papal ring and ever get within gunshot of the White House.

BISHOP LEONARD wants "immigration laws enforced against Latin races that would flock to this country." The bishop shouted, "I am 100 per cent Anglo-Saxon, America is a Protestant nation and always will remain so."

The bishop might remember that if Christopher Columbus who was not 100 per cent Anglo-Saxon, hadn't come to America the earnest bishop might not be here.

THIS is a religious country, financially at least. Dr. Lovejoy, of the "Council of the Churches of Christ of the United States and Canada," says religious Americans gave to religion last year $648,000,000. That sum, about $6 a head for everybody in the United States, ought to save many souls, if carefully spent.

On the other hand, you notice that the little New England church was packed when Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge attended divine service, whereas ordinarily there are plenty of empty seats the president is well worth seeing, of course, but, if religion were really a vital part of life you would expect the church to be crowded with or without the president, the Lord himself being always there.

The "Old Swimmin' Hole" Is Calling

Are you warm and sticky and cross because it is so hot?

Are you lazq and tired and unable to wor for the same reason?

There is only one place that will be comfortable when you feel like this—the "Old Swimmin' hole."

But to enjoy this cool spot thoroughly one most be able to swim.

EMMONS, VAN FOSSAN ARE CHOSEN FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE PLACES

100 PERSONS REPORTED DEAD IN CHURCH WAR

Forty Catholics are Killed in One Mexican State.

17 ARE EXECUTED

Indians Throughout Michoacan are in Inflammatory Mood.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—Almost 100 persons were killed in fighting for possession of churches in the states of Michoacan, Jalisco and Guadalajara, in connection with the dispute between the Catholic church and the government of Mexico, delayed reports indicated today.

Forty Catholics, including several priests, were killed in Zaguayo, Michoacan, alone, according to Leolde Quiz Cizernos' arch-bishop of Michoacan, who arrived in the capital this morning with [illegible] harrowing experiences.

Seventeen of this number, the archbishop said, were cold-blooded executions perpetrated by the soldiers after victory had been conceded.

The Indians throughout Michoacan were in a highly inflammatory state and Archbishop said that further blood shed was almost inevitable. He said he was forced to flee because the authorities tried to arrest him, notwithstanding the fact that he had done his utmost to calm the Catholics.

American officials have just received confirmation of the report that between 50 and 60 have been killed in the struggle for the possession of the three churches of Guadadajara.

The situation in Jalisco is represented as grave although actual fighting appears to have ceased.

Widow Appointed Sheriff to Succeed Her Slain Husband

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Aug. 11.—Mrs. Mary Kreb Dunfee, widow of Sheriff Sam Dunfee, slain a week ago by an alleged rum runner, at Provident, O., near here, today became Ohio's second woman sheriff.

Mrs. Dunfee was appointed to succeed her husband today by county commissioners. She is the mother of five children.

Her first official act was to impanel a special grand jury to probe the death of her husband.

Alleged Witnesses Of Double Murder To Be Arrested

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 11.—Two alleged witnesses of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mille were to be arrested in New Brunswick today if the tentative plans of Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson are carried out. A third arrest is planned but is uncertain.

Testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," who said she recognized two of the persons at the murder scene, a man and a woman, is said to be responsible for the warrants for the arrests.

Thad Brown Spurts to Front in County Balloting for Republican Gubernatorial Nomination.

GOV. DONAHEY CARRIES COUNTY

Senator Willis Has Easy Sailing, While Pomerene is Running Ahead of Judge Allen.

Unofficial returns from 66 of the county's 105 precincts, which had been tabulated today, indicated the nomination of George Wright, East Liverpool, for sheriff; Elmer E. Walker, Damascus, for county auditor; Fred George, Madison township, for county treasurer, and probably J. H. Sinclair, Hanoverton, for county commissioner, on the Republican ticket in yesterday's primaries.

On the Democratic ticket there were no contests for county offices.

Cope Third in Race.

On the face of early returns, Ralph W. Emmons, East Rochester, and W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, appear to be the Republican nominees for state representative, H. D. Cope, Rogers, and R. D. Smith, Salineville, are running a poor third and fourth, respectively. The 66 precincts for which returns had been tabulated included East Liverpol, Salem and Wellsville and scattering reports from East Palestine, Lisbon and rural communities.

The vote for state representative was: Emmons, 3,509; Van Fossan, 2,516; Cope, 1,573, and Smith, 1,075.

Sheriff George Wright apparently is an easy winner over David H. Eells, Lisbon, for the Republican re-nomination, the tabulation giving Wright 3,220 and Eells 1,615. Returns, which are yet to be tabulated are expected to make no change in the running order of the two candidates. Wright was given majorities in East Liverpool and Wellsville, but the vote in Salem was close.

Ferren Is Defeated.

Elmer E. Walker, filling the unexpired term of Charles Hamilton as county auditor, has been nominated over ex-Mayor Albert Ferren, East Palestine, by almost a two to one vote. Except for the first ward, Ferren's former home, Walker out-distanced him in East Liverpool. Ferren carried his adopted city, East Palestine. The

Beatty Will Run In 1928 as "Double Wet or Bone Dry"

James C. B. Beatty, East Liverpool pottery job, defeated for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1924 and again at yesterday's primary election, today announced he will be a candidate for the office at the 1928 balloting.

Beatty said he would run on either an independent ticket, double wet, or a Democratic ticket, bone dry.

His statement says:

"In answer to the results of yesterday's primary election I wish to advise the citizens of Ohio that in 1928 I will be a candidate for governor of Ohio on either an independent ticket, double wet, or a Democratic ticket, bone dry, and will offer the patronage of the state to the two highest bidders in both elements."

JUDGE ALLEN CONCEDES LOSS OF TOGA FIGHT

Woman Congratulates Pomerene, Democratic Opponent.

THANKS FRIENDS

Willis Has Lead of 4 to 1 Over Hildebrandt.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—"I congratulate Senator Atlee Pomerene on the outcome of the Ohio primary."

With these words Miss Florence Allen, 42 year justice of the state supreme court, conceded her defeat for the Democratic nomination for United States senator today.

Judge Allen expressed her thanks to her supporters.

Pomerene's followers hailed his 3 to 2 lead over Miss Allen as a victory.

On the face of returns from 3,788 precincts, Pomerene had a 14,000 plurality. His total was 44,135, while Miss Allen's was 30,738.

Miss Allen dropped behind Pomerene in the first counting. Throughout the night she showed strength from time to time as returns came in from sections of the state where she had made strenuous personal campaigns.

STATE SENATOR H. M. CARPENTER SETS PACE IN DISTRICT RACE

Earl R. Lewis is Running Mate on G. O. P. Ticket.

ONE OPPONENT

Murphy and Nolan Will Contest for Congress.

Although figures were not available today, State Senator Harry C. Carpenter, Steubenville, and Attorney Earl R. Lewis, St. Clairsville, were returned winners in the race for the Republican senatorial places from the 20th-22nd district in yesterday's primaries.

Carpenter, who has served two terms in the state legislature polled a heavy vote in the four counties of the district. Lewis ran second in Columbiana and Jefferson and was well supported in Belmont and Harrison counties. The other candidates were William C. Fretter and G. Frank Malin, both of Belmont county.

Forty-three out of 105 precincts in Columbiana gave Carpenter 2,465; Lewis 1,201; Malin 638 and Fretter 193.

George J. Barrett, also of Belmont county, had no opposition for the Democratic nomination.

Congressman Frank Murphy and Attorney John F. Nolan, both of Steubenville, were unopposed for the Republican and Democratic nominations for congressman for the 18th district and will oppose each other at the November election.

The race for member of the Republican state central committee from the 18th district was in doubt today as no returns were available from Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison and Carroll counties. In Columbiana county, W. Campbell George, East Palestine pottery manufacturer, was leading A. U. Richardson,, East Liverpool, by nearly 300 votes in 48 precincts. The vote was George 1,470, Richardson 1,167. The other candidate is Allen Scott, Cadiz, who polled 543 votes in the same precincts. Richardson lost East Liverpool. The contest is to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles Hamilton, Lisbon.

A spirited fight also developed for member of the Democratic state central committee between J. V. Lawler, Jr., Carrollton publisher, and R. T. Michener and John R. Murphy, both of Belmont county. Lawler made an active campaign for the office. No reports on this contest were available.

Hugo Black Appears Certain to Succeed Senator Underwood

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 11.—Steadily clinging to a commanding lead over his nearest opponent, Hugo L. Black, Birmingham attorney, appeared almost a certainty to succeed Oscar Underwood in the United States senate from Alabama, on the basis of meager returns this morning from the Alabama Democratic primary elections.

The race for governor appeared to lie between Colonel Bibb Graves of Montgomery and Lieutenant Governor Charles McDowell, who were running neck and neck.

L. B. Musgrove, endorsed by the national officers of the Ku Klux Klan, was tailing in the senatorial race and it was apparent the bulk of the Klan strength had refused to follow the lead of the national officers and had voted almost solidly for Black, who also made a play for Klan support.

New York Detective Shot in Police Headquarters.

SNATCHES GUN

Negro, Who Flees, is Subdued With Night Sticks.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Detective John Singer was shot and killed in police headquarters here early today and Gene Pearce, negro, his slayer, was captured three hours later.

Pearce, a giant negro, was arrested by Singer on a charge of automobile theft. Singer took him to police headquarters and was making an entry in a record book when the captive snatched the detective's revolver from its holster and emptied it into the body of his captor. Then he fled.

Hundreds of policemen searched the city for the negro. Pearce was located by Patrolman John White and after a desperate fight was subdued by other policemen armed with night sticks. The negro was unconscious when taken to police headquarters.

DANISH VESSEL IS TORPEDOED

KIEL, Germany, Aug. 1.—The Danish sailing vessel "Sigrid" was sunk today by a torpedo, fired by a German destroyer during maneuvers in the Baltic.

The crew of the destroyer saved the crew of five of the Danish vessel, after making an effort to save the ship from sinking.

CHEVROLET CAR REPORTED STOLEN

Nathan Franklin, 140 West Seventh street, reported to Patrolman Chester Smith today that his Chevrolet touring car, 1923 model, had been stolen while parked in the downtown district last night. The machine carried Ohio license No. 243-405.

MILLS, BLOOM, POMERENE AND WILLIS ALSO ARE NOMINATED

Clarence Brown and Newman Victors in Race for Secretary.

BUCKLEY ON TOP

Matthias, Jones, McBride and Conn Named for Judge.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—The drys put over two big winners in Ohio's primary, returns from almost half of the state's 8,649 precincts showed today.

Myers Cooper of Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Council of Churches, won the Republican nomination for governor.

Senator Frank B. Willis walked off with the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Cooper's Lead is 15,000.

In the Democratic senatorial race Ex-Senator Atlee Pomerene, an acknowledged wet, defeated Judge Florence Allen, a dry and an exponent of the World Court. Pomerene's victory forecasts a bitter wet-dry battle in Ohio at the November election.

Governor V. A. Donahey won the Democratic nomination for governor beating his nearest opponent, Former Secretary of Agriculture A. P. Sandles, 6 to 1.

Returns from 3,836 precincts gave Senator Willis a 4 to 1 lead over C. Q. Hildebrandt, of Wilmington, Ohio, the runner up.

Willis had 82,467. Hildebrandt 20,833, and Charles Dick, Akron, 17,526.

J. O. Mills, the restauranteur, had an almost 2 to 1 lead for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. Mills received in 3,836 precincts a total of 49,840. W. W. Farnsworth of Westerville, his nearest opponent, had 28,321, while J. F. Burke of Elyria was running third with 20,085.

Cooper's victory was in doubt until this morning when after running most of the night neck and neck with Thad H. Brown, secretary of state, he took a commanding lead when heavy returns from his home county, Hamilton county, were tabulated. One block of 630 Hamilton precincts gave Cooper 24,000 majority. Outside of Hamilton county Cooper was running even with Brown.

With returns tabulated from 6,854 of the state's 8,649 precincts, Cooper

CITIES' PROPOSED FINANCIAL FREEDOM AMENDMENT IS DEFEATED BY VOTERS OF COUNTY AND STATE

Columbiana county voters at yesterday's primary election, apparently rejected a proposed amendment to the constitution, which would give municipalities authority to assess street improvement costs upon abutting property instead of taxpayers at large.

Forty-seven precincts out of the county's 105, including East Liverpool, Salem and Wellsville, cast 1,538 votes for the proposal and 1,925 against it. If this ratio is maintained, a majority of 800 or more will be returned against the plan.

East Liverpool voters rejected the amendment by a vote of 723 to 663, while electors of Wellsville turned it down by the count of 578 to 314. The issue lost in Salem by 31 votes, the count being 445 for the amendment and 476 against it. Rural precints voted the proposal.

The proposed amendment to the constitution, which applied to cities only, would have permitted the charging of more than half the cost of acquiring land for public improvements against the benefited property. By the present plan no more than 50 percent of the cost of improvement can be assesed against abutting property. Many cities, loaded down with public expenses, are unable to bear the share of such improvements which the constitution imposes upon them by the present arrangement.

The proposed constitutional amendment, which would have permitted them to charge more than half the cost of acquiring land for public improvements against the benefited property, was defeated, according to the early returns.

An early tabulation shows a vote of almost 2 to 1 against the constitutional change.

The rural districts which could not have been affected by the amendment, cast a decisive vote against it in spite of the support of agricultural leaders and that of the grange and other farm organizations.

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT.

"Arthur,"—Bee's hands were clenched tightly at her sides; her eyes were filling,—"do you realize that that poor girl is down there in my bed actually dying? Do you realize that we've got to get word to her father and mother tonight and plunge them into the bitterest sort of tragedy? . . No, listen to me! It doesn't matter now whether she's modern or not—or whether she hadn't a strong enough head for your sort of thing." Contempt crept into her voice at this point, but the poet didn't flinch. "A marriage will give her something to hold to. It is the one thing that may save her life. And it will save something for her father and mother—enable them to bold theih heads up, at least."

"But, Bee—really—do I understand this? Are you proposing that I marry the girl to make an honest woman of her?"

"Yet. That. Exactly that."

"Strange."

"You've got to, Arthur."

"Pretty strong words, Bee."

"And now, tonight."

"Oh, really, Bee—"

"If you don't do it willingly, I'll make you."

"Threats?"

"Certainly. Threats."

"What a curious idea of marriage! H'm—sanctity! Understand, I'm as sorry as you that the poor child—"

"I shall wire your father this evening. And I shall make everything perfectly clear to him—"

"My father will hardly thank you for that. He knows perfectly well that I live my own life. For heaven's sake, Bee, try to face this thing rationally! I've always sensed a Victorian strain in you, but I never supposed you were—"

Fred, standing apart, watching the composure gradually slip from this cool, selfish brain now spoke.

"It goes a great deal deeper than that, Bee. This man—"

"I shall really have to ask," interposed Rockwell, 'in what capacity this gentleman is here."

Fred, however. gave Bee no opportunity to explain. 'I am here to see that you do the right thing, Rockwell."

"The right thing!" Arthur's lips curled nervously into a smile as he considered the trite old phrase. "Really, Bee—"

"If you don't mind, Bee,"—she bowed to Fred's quietly deepening grip on the situation,—"I'll speak a little more plainly to this man." He turned on him. "Your father will have to know, naturally, Rockwell. You see, there's the little matter of money to be considered."

"Oh,"—contemptuously, —"money, "money, eh?"

"Certainly." Fred's keen eyes hadn't missed the hint of a glistening moisture gathering just above the poet's temples. "For one thing, this doctoring and nursing is pretty expensive. It is your idea to dump all that responsibility on these two girls?"

"Certainly not. I told you I'd do anything I could. When Delia came to me begging me to marry her, I simply had to refuse. It would have led to no happiness. It was simply unsound. That wasn't at all the sort of thing we'd decided. It was perfectly understood."

"Wait a minute," said Kendall. "She told you—everything."

"Why, really—"

"She told you. We know that."

"All right. She told me. Go on."

"And you turned her off. You knew she'd need help—a good deal of help."

"You have no right to say I turned her off. I refused to marry her, yes. But I wouldn't have let her suffer. It wasn't a question of money then. It wasn't time for money—nowhere near."

"Just a minute. You were booked to sail for Central America on Saturday—to be gone for one or two years."

"I am attached to the Birmingham Expedition, yes."

"Then how did you figure you were going to help her? You were planning not to be here."

"Bee,"—Arthur turned to her,—"I don't know who this man is, and I hesitate to seem discourteous to you, but I'm beginning to wonder if the situation isn't verging on an attempt at blackmail."

"This man is an old friend of mine, Arthur. He is here at my request. And if you don't stop wasting time and show us a little human decency, just a little, I won't undertake to be responsible for what he may do to you."

"Oh, really, Bee—"

"He's asking for trouble, Bee," said Kendall. "Let's go on with it. I'll give him all he wants.—You realize, Rockwell, that money, some money, is needed at once, and that you've got to produce it. Furthermore, you should realize that if you keep up your present attitude, you're going to need a lot more for legal expenses."

"Are you an officer of the law?"

Kendall stood directly over him, looking firmly down into the now glistening and weakening face. "I'll answer that by telling you—and I want you to get this, get it right: I have friends in the District Attorney's office. We know that you gave her the poison—"

"Good God, man, I didn't give it to her to eat!"

"We know all about that. We know where you bought the bottle. You had to sign for it at the druggist's. Don't forget that. We know—"

"But—but—"

"I'm simply warning you, Rockwell. You're a very complacent young man—very self-willed. I won't waste on you now the epithets that come to my mind. I just want to get this clearly into your head; if you don't choose to go through with this marriage tonight, if you're not willing to take full human responsibility for this desperate situation, I'm going to put through one of the dirtiest criminal trials New York has seen since the Thaw case. You wreck that girl's life? All right, I'll wreck yours. Your whole career, mind. I'll crush you as completely as you've crushed her. And I'll smash the happiness of your parents, your whole family, exactly as you're smashing hers. Do you get it? Is it plain?"

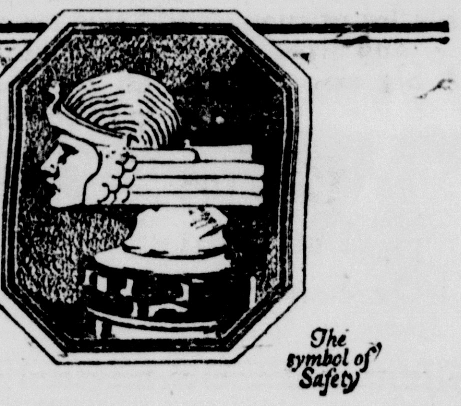
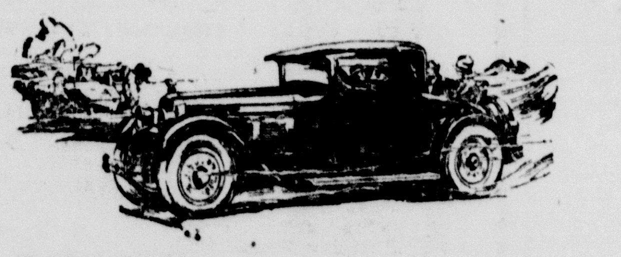
New SAFETY STUTZ



Traffic experts acclaim this adoption of Safety Glass



ALL traffic authorities agree that the general adoption of safety-glass all around as regular equipment, now pioneered by and exclusive to the New Safety Stutz, will result in a great reduction of motoring injuries.

From the very beginning, every New Stutz car has a safety-glass windshield. Then the builders of this surpassingly safe automobile, noting the increasing frequency of newspaper reports chronicling damage from flying glass, decided that the New Safety Stutz should have safety-glass all around.

And so, safety-glass has been put into every window, and window-ventilator, every windshield, and windshield-wing of all New Safety Stutz models.

This voluntary adoption of safety-glass, at no additional expense to the car owner, means that the ultimate step has been taken by the builders of the New Safety Stutz to provide the safest private passenger automobile ever built. And this safety feature is obtainable in no car other than the New Safety Stutz.

The safety-glass feature is naturally pioneered by the designers who were first to radically lower the center of mass weight and so produce an automobile of incomparable stability; who were first to adopt the improved hydrostatic four-wheel brakes developed by Timken; who made their frame the strongest and most rigid built, with integral steel running-boards or "side bumpers"; who brought steel into the construction of their bodies to give maximum strength and narrow, clear-vision front corner-posts.

And the builders of the New Safety Stutz now announce the latest development in the Fedco System of Theft Prevention and Detection. Additional protection is now given each owner, all without cost to him, by indemnity against loss of use resulting from theft, at the rate of five dollars per day, up to thirty days.

New Safety Stutz models with their exclusive features are now on display at our show-rooms. See the New Safety Stutz, ride in it, drive it.

An exclusive feature of the New Safety Stutz is Loss-of-Use Insurance, paying the car owner five dollars per day, up to thirty days, for loss of the car's use through theft. This is without cost to the car owner.

The entire car has Underwriters' Class A rating on both fire and theft.

Eight body styles, including 7-passenger models, designed and constructed under the supervision of Brewster of New York.

Eckfeld, Kerr, Wright Winners Here; Brown G. O. P. Choice For Governor

In conformity with conditions general throughout the the state yesterday's primary election here developed one of the lightest votes on record as Wellsville electors turned in pluralities for Thad Brown, gubernatorial candidate; H. M. Carpenter, for state senator; Ralph Emmons, representative; George Wright, sheriff; Fred Eckfeld, treasurer, and John M. Kerr, commissioner on the Republican state; and V. A. Donahey, governor, and Florence Allen, supreme court judge, on the Democratic.

Interest was centered chiefly in the treasurership race in which Eckfeld was pitted against Fred George, of East Liverpool, and C. H. Hoopes, of Kensington, the city biggest vote being cast in this contest. Eckfeld was given a majority of 743 against George's 194 and Hoope's 21. In all, 958 ballots were cast in the treasurer fight

In the gubernatorial races, 754 Republicans voted and 123 Democrats; The sheriff fight brought out 866 and the commissioner race 896.

Kerr outdistanced Sinclair in Wellsville by a vote of 549 to 248, but lost ground in other parts of the county

Probably no more than 25 per cent of the qualified voters of the city exercised their power of franchise at yesterday's vote.

In the Republican governorship race Brown captured all but two precincts of the city's nine, Cooper winning in 2A and 3A. The city totals are: Beam 6, Brown 364 Buchanan 11, Cooper 216, Day 54, Dircks 3, Gilson 9, Shanley 4, Sieber 151, Smith 15, Snow 16, Webster 5.

Mills led the field of 11 candidates in the race for the lieutenant governorship. He polled 291 and his nearest competitor, Galbreath, 134. Other results were: Bracher 12; Burke 86; Cain 8; Davis 37; Emerson 40; Farnsworth 97; McKim 6; Tippett 6; Watkins 20.

Buckley, leading candidate for state treasurer, led the field here with 183; Davis 94; Forney 60; Godfrey 35; Hoover 122; Kellison 16; Nelson 69; Smith 77.

Brown polled 426 for secretary of state; Cross 195, and Hummell 77.

Griswold, with 221, led for attorney general. Boyd was second with 168 and Grills third with 41.

Willis won hands down for United States Senator, polling 501. His rivals failed to reach the 100 mark, other results being: Alcorn 81; Fiorini 4; Hildebrand 76; Latham 20; Price 25; Watson 28.

Supreme court justice results gave Geiger 277; Jones 152; Matthias 207; Washburn 269.

The state central committee vote: George 1799; Richardson 185; Scott 150.

Harry M. Carpenter, of Steubenville, was an easy victor in the fight for state senator. He polled 598 as against 40 for Fretter; 251 for Lewis, 201 for Malin.

Representative Ralph Emmons, of East Rochester, did not have much of a struggle here, leading 558 votes. Cope polled 205; Smith 164; and Van Fossan 267.

Sheriff George Wright, seeking renomination, won over David Eells by a plurality of 196 votes out of 896 cast. Wright received 531 and Eells 335. Wright won every precinct except 4-C.

Walker practically doubled the vote on Ferren in the county auditorship contest, polling 464 to the East Palestine man's 238 and winning every precinct.

The commissionership contest developed into a fight here as elsewhere in the county betwween Sinclair and Kerr. The latter polled a 549 total to Sinclair's 248. Kerr enjoyed his biggest plurality in 1-B, where the count was 121 to 54. He took 4-C with an 18-17 count. Van Blaricom polled 10 votes here and Wilkinson 89.

Fred Eckfeld easily outdistanced the field for county treasurer here but Fred George, of East Liverpool, his chief rival, picked up ground and went ahead in East Liverpool and northern county districts. Eckfeld received 743 here and George 194. Hoopes was given 21.

There were 123 Democratic votes cast for governor and Vic Donahey was given 111 of them, J. C. B. Beatty receiving nine, Kauffman one and Sandles two.

Lieutenant governorship totals were Bloom 46; Grall five; Johnston nine; Madden 14; Reynolds 23.

Secretary of State: Bronson nine; Krause 18; Newman 21; Young 43.

Treasurer of state—Deweese 43; Pattison 56.

15 CHICKENS ESCAPE FIRE

For queer twists of fate and oddities of a varied nature, the city's $125,000 fire which destroyed the Riverside hotel, the Paramount Candy company building and damaged two others sets the pace.

First the fact that the municipal fire siren was out of commission on the occasion of the city's most disastrous conflagration in years, then the fact that motor fire truck representatives, here to give a demonstration of a pumper truck were able to give a real show of their wares and now comes the announcement that 15 live chickens were taken out of the cellar of the hotel after the fire had been over for hours and the process of demolishing the walls was under way.

The chickens were in store for restaurant use. They were found huddled together in the coal hole under the sidewalk where they escaped fallen brick and timbers and appeared little the worse for wear.

3 ARE HURT IN BOMB BLAST

Explosive Blows Hole in New Cleveland Building.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—Two girls were cut by flying glass and slight injuries were sustained by the watchman when a bomb blew a hole two foot square in the new building of the Eclipse Electrotype & Engraving company early today. The girls, Evelyn Nobtiz, 4, and Dorothy Nobitz, 15, were sleeping in an adjoining apartment.

Windows were broken in surrounding buildings by the force of the blast.

Police were unable to learn the identity of the bombers but they believe trouble between union and nonunion laborers working on the building motivated the act.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Industrial stocks recovered a portion of yesterday's losses in the early trading today as the result of short covering and moderate investment buying. Leaders in the motor, industrial and pool specialty stocks started the session with slight gains over Tuesday's closing range and advanced a point or two in fairly active trading.

Confidence in the General Motors' directors anticipated action tomorrow, when at least a 50 per cent stock dividend is looked for, stimulated active buying of that stock, which rose 5 points to 211½; United States Steel was in demand above 151: Mack trucks displayed unusual buoyancy and sold above 131. Active buying of Ward bread sent that stock up 3 points to 36½, while Industrial Alchohol and International Nickel continued their rallies.

Little Interest In Tuesday's Primaries

Indicative of the absence of interest on the part of the Ohio electorate in yesterday's primaries, as a result of which Myers Y. Cooper is the prospective Republican gubernatorial nominee, and Gov. A. V. Donahey was renominated by the Democrats for a third term race, was the small vote in East Liverpool and other subwivisions of Colmbiana county.

Despite other contests, especially the race between Supreme Court Judge Florence Allen and Atlee Pomerene for the United States senatorship on the Democratic ticket, which the ex-senator appears to have won; the Republican candidacy of Senator Frank B. Willis, always a vote getter, and an easy winner yesterday, and fights for county offices and the three legislative places, the balloting was far below predictions.

Not more than 25 per cent of the normal voting strength was polled here, while less than 33 1-3 per cent of the qualified electors in other parts of the county went to the polls.

The official canvass, election board officials predicted today, will show not more than 2,200 of East Liverpool's 8,000 or more voters exercised the suffrage right. It is a safe wager that less than 10,000 of the 22,000 electors in the remaining 84 precincts of the county showed any outward evidence of a desire for a voice in selecting party nominees for the November election.

There is only one answer to this situation—general apathy on the part of the electorate. And it is another argument in favor of a change in the present primary system in Ohio, as proposed in an amendment to be submitted to the voters next fall.

Peace Day

Armistice Day is still a long way off, yet in one cosmopolitan American community plans are being made for it already.

The celebration will be truly cosmopolitan. Fifty nationalities are expected to take part in it. Representing their own community, they will represent virtually the whole world.

Here is an example worthy to be followed widely. There are few American cities or towns that could not muster citizens representing a dozen nationalities or more— by birth or origin. Almost any community will be surprised at the racial variety of its citizenship, when the quest is once begun. Ordinarily, in American life, we very properly ignore such differences, but in connection with Armistice Day there is a peculiar fitness in recalling them.

The World war involved nearly all the important nations, arrayed against each other. Then came the Armistice with its promise of world peace. That peace is not yet realized, but we draw nearer to it with every adequate celebration of Armistice Day, when all the belligerent nationalities can meet with a common hope in their hearts.

Let 'Em Stay Away

An unnamed correspondent, writing in the conservative Kreuz Zeitung of Berlin, advises German tourists to stay away from the United States.

"America," he explains, "has nothing to offer cultured Europeans. Scratch an American and you are sure to find he is nothing more than a piece of machinery."

Which seems to be another verification of the oft-repeated assertion that "machinery won the war."

Anyway, it doesn't matter much. If "cultured Europeans" want to remain away from our vulgar and contaminating shores, that's all right with us. Especially if they make sure to include lecturers and borrowers.

The fact is that America is not falling over itself to bring any kind of Europeans here just now.

It might be a good thing if there were less travel in both directions until present passions and grievances had a chance to subside. Eventually, as absence made the heart grow fonder, each continent might come to appreciate the virtues of the other and talk less of the other's faults.

Another Wal To Live Long

Here is another gem of wisdom from a venerable gentleman who has attained distinction by the simple but difficult process of continuing to live. Michael Fallon, aged 90, of Paterson, N. J. asked for an explanation of his longevity, explains that he has survived by always doing what he pleased. That includes chewing tobacco since he was 16.

They live longest, he thinks, who do what they like, eat what they like and drink what they like.

Other venerable gentlemen give a precisely opposite explanation, and find medical support for it. And as a matter of common observation, there are plenty of men dying now every day from doing exactly what Mr. Fallon recommends.

Still, it's a complex problem, and you can't tell. We get far more babies past their infancy now, but let most of them succumb to the diseases of middle age. Our "expectation of life" has increased, yet the secret of old age remains a mystery. The theory of an unusual endowment of vitality seems pretty reasonable; yet often we find men and women who were puny and sickly in their youth outliving those born far stronger.

"Vancouver," says a random news item, "is to have a million-dollar theater." Whereupon a million New Yorkers sit up and inquire, "Now, where is Vancouver?"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Living not many miles from New York is a famous coquette of yesteryear. Her home is a palace stuffed with art treasures. If it were not for her silver white hair she might be taken for a woman in the early forties. She is near 60.

Her mind is clouded. She has toyed with the emotions of many gallants in various parts of the world and from these experiences has not only gathered a generous fortune but a superior and cosmopolitan manner unchanged by her infirmity.

Friends of other days overlook her vagaries, which often take a quick and embarrassing turn. In the middle of a dinner party she has suddenly ordered all from the table and the house. She has only a single obsession, and that is she may be poisoned. The following day she will bombard them with telegrams and letters making profuse apologies for her actions. And perhaps they will solemnly return the following week to have the experience repeated. Then there are times when she holds them spellbound by brilliant conversation.

Her home is decorated and furnished in rococo style. There are stuffed animals—trophies of African hunts—with electrically lighted eyes. A library whose shelves are filled with toxicological tomes and the histories of famous poisonings.

One room in the house she permits no one to enter. It is heavily barred and locked and when her fear is greatest she goes there and prepares her own meals and eats in solitude. And when pierced by shafts of reason she laughs at her fears to her friends.

Despite the fact she has angled and netted the markets of the world for rare jewels, she has a necklace which is her particular delight. On festive occasions she wears it. By pressing a tiny switch it leaps into a dazzling glitter, being composed of a chain of tiny electrical bulbs.

The glamour of rare jewels—I seem to lean toward jewels this week—offers the most fascinating of all human observations. It has furnished the theme for the best in fiction, ruined empires and led hundreds to death. Some of the greatest sacrifices in all history have been made by men seeking to salvage hidden fire from dull earth. In many countries in Europe jewels are believed to have caused more moral wreckage than drink.

A jeweler once told me that any ordinary minerals could be made rare jewels if controlled by a syndicate and pronounced scarce.

In like fashion famous wits are made. Some of the dullest men in the world have reputations as humorists. A report is circulated they are funny. An inane remark becomes a sparkling epigram. And before they know it they are famous wits. Also many real wits were funny until people began telling them so.

One of the sweatered "dese, dem and dose" boys of the Bowery environs drifted into a Broadway restaurant the other day at noon time. He sat at the table with his cap pulled rakishly over one eye.

"It is customary for gentlemen to remove their hats," said the floor manager.

"A dump for swells, eh?" inquired the patron. "The nex' ting you guys know you'll ask us to go outside to 'dunk' bread in the cawfee."

On the bulletin board of a Sixth Avenue employment agency the other morning was this sign: "Wanted—Young man to fill ink wells in mail order house. Part time and rubber gloves furnished." There's a new occupation. An ink well filler!

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Interesting Panama Natives.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11. — A complete study of the history and cultural records of the peoples of Panama, the cross roads of the new world, has been compiled by the scientists of the Smithsonian Institution and the National Museum at Washington, and is being published by the Government Printing Office. Herbert W. Krieger, Curator of the Division of Ethnology of the National Museum, is the compiler of the work, which has for its basis both the written history of the people and the unwritten facts derived from the materials collected by scientific expeditions into the native regions south and east of the Canal Zone.

Somewhat as Suez was a separating line between the early civilizations of Africa and Asia, notably those of Egypt and of Syria, so the Isthmus of Panama lay between the highest early cultures of North and South America, those of Mexico and Peru. While the development of the peoples north and south was thus far advanced, the traces of early life on the Isthmus of Panama show no culture nearly so well developed. The derivation of the tribal life on the isthmus was undoubtedly from South America rather than from the north, according to the facts assembled by Mr. Krieger, but it was probably from the tribes lying southeastward in what are now Colombia and Venezuela, rather than from those southward in the Andes.

Since the coming of the first Spaniards, life on the isthmus has become a varied thing, and the so-called native population of today is greatly admixed with early negro blood from imported slaves, with a touch of white blood and even a little of the oriental. But in southeastern Panama, or Darien, the section on the South American side of the Canal, the native tribes have in some areas kept aloof from all foreign elements, and retain much of their earlier manner of life. On the North American side of the Canal, the natives are practically the same as those of Costa Rica, and their history and ethnology have been more fully studied.

Much of the accumulated knowledge of the Indians of the Isthmus east of the Canal was gathered in 1924 by the Marsh-Darien Expedition, under Richard Aglesby Marsh, whose collections were given to the National Museum. Earlier collectors had contributed a variety of material and of historical data, and from the whole of available sources the present exhibits at the Museum have been secured, and the new volume on the material culture of this land has been compiled.

Three Principal Tribes.

It is the record of three principal tribes, the Chocos of the Pacific Slope, the Cunas of the mountains, and the Tules of the Caribbean Coast. The Cuna and Tule races were of the same stock, and their differences are those of more recent environment. The Choco culture on the other hand displays marked divergences. Best known of all these Indians today are the San Blas Islands tribe of the Caribbean. They are of the Tule race, and their isolation on this chain of islands has made them in late years an object of considerable curiosity and numerous visits by scientists and writers. Their history is part of that of all the Tule tribes, and dates back to before Columbus. That explorer was their first white visitor, on his last voyage founding a settlement on their coast.

This and other early Spanish settlements did not last long. The Spaniards undertook to enslave the natives and make them work the gold mines. Against this rule the tribes rebelled, and finally expelled the white men. A few buccaneers later settled among them, but did not stay long. Since then they have maintained their region exclusively for themselves, and they retain to this day a great pride of race which makes them less prone to intermarry with other races or tribes than almost any group of Indians.

Balboa was governor of a colony among these people when he first scaled the mountains of the Isthmus and gazed upon the Pacific, so that the discoverers both of the New World and of the Pacific Ocean made efforts to settle and maintain white men among these tribes, but without success. Early in the sixteenth century the Spaniards were driven westward and founded Panama City, and thereafter the "gold road" across the Isthmus traversed the region where the canal now cuts through the land. The Conquistadores passed that way for the future, and the land of Darien was left to the native tribes.

While not so advanced in building arts or handicraft as the Aztecs, these peoples of the Isthmus had a fairly advanced culture many hundred years ago. They mined gold and silver and made ornaments thereof, they raised agricultural products, they built villages and canoes, and they had a strong tribal society. It is interesting to note that each village was a law unto itself and there was no general government or government chief, yet they apparently never quarrelled among themselves.

Were Brave Warriors.

A foreign invader, however, found them resolute and warlike. Balboa recorded that he had slain thirty

RESERVED FOR PRIVATE USES

In certain parts of the South everybody eats dinner at midday and then takes a nap. Business is practically suspended for a couple of hours. Especially is this true of the summer season.

A Northern traveling man in a small town not far from where I was born and reared needed a lead pencil. Nobody around the little hotel seemed to have one to spare. The time was just after midday and the weather was sultry. He walked down the deserted main street until he came to a general store. A gentleman in his shirtsleeves, evidently the proprietor, was titled back in a chair against the front door, taking a nap.

The stranger shook him by the shoulder, at first gently, then forcibly. The sleeper broke a snore short off and opened one heavy eye.

"Well?" he said, drowsily.

"I want to buy a lead pencil," said the traveling man, "a good five cent lead pencil."

"Got no lead pencils," murmured the proprietor thickly, as his eyes closed again.

"Why, I can see a whole showcase full of them right behind you," protested the traveler.

The proprietor started to rise. Then inspiration came to him.

"Oh, them?" he said, brightly. "Them ain't for sale!" and went right back to sleep.

TROUBLED FOR YEARS WITH INDIGESTION

Mr. Allan Small, of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I have always lived in fear of heart trouble—my father, as well as my mother's sister, died from this dreaded affliction when I was a child. As it was on both sides of my family and I had often heard it was hereditary, I lived in dread and fear

"As I have had at intervals severe abdominal pains, heart-burn and pressure on the heart, I felt there was no relief so I became reconciled to the horrible truth I was doomed, nothing could be done and must await my time to go as my father and mother's sister I never dreamed I might only have intestinal indigestion, and my trouble was sour and acid stomach, causing gas pressure on the heart. Thanks to a friend who suggested Carter's Little Liver Pills as a remedy for faulty intestinal elimination, I am now free from the dreaded fear and enjoy all around good health. Small pills, easy to take and relieve the bowels in a rational way, with pleasant after effects." For sale at all druggists.

DRY OFFICERS BADLY BURNED

Touch Match to Still Seized in Raid Near Weirton.

Thomas Harmon, state policeman, and Dale Long, special prohibition commissioner assigned to Weirton territory last week, were burned about the face, hands and body as a result of an explosion which occurred last night on a farm near Weirton when the officers touched a match to a still and a quantity of liquor they had captured earlier in the evening.

Both were given first aid treatment in the emergency hospital at Weirton police headquarters after which they were taken to their homes.

Th accident occurred after the two officers, together with D. E. Crosten, deputy prohibition commissioner stationed here, and two deputy sheriffs, had uncovered a well camouflaged still secreted in a small room in a hollow and covered with shrubbery and leaves. The explosion occurred when a match was applied to the still and mash barrels after gasoline, oil and whisky had been poured over the pile. Long was hurled through the door of the room and Harmon was trapped inside when the door closed. Although badly burned the state policeman crawled through a window in the shanty before he collapsed.

A man giving his name as Frank Karver was placed under arrest and is being held here pending a hearing tomorrow.

Late yesterday afternoon the same officers captured a still on the Sanders farm. A 58 gallon still was destroyed, as were 50 barrels of mash and a large quantity of liquor.

The raids climaxed a strenuous week of activity on the part of prohibition officers. During the last seven days seven large stills have been captured.

VILMA BANKY AT AMERICAN

Beautiful Hungarian Actress in "The Dark Angel."

Few artists from abroad assimilate American customs and usages as rapidly as has Vilma Banky, the exotic Hungarian beauty recently discovered in Budapest by Samuel Goldwyn. And now, according to observers, Vilma has as quickly accomplished the finesse and technique of the American actress.

In Europe, where Miss Banky served her apprenticeship at motion picture work, apparently pictures carry only a certain provincial appeal, catering to the tastes and entertainment of only certain classes of certain nationalities.

It was along these lines that Vilma was coached and trained prior to her fateful meeting with Goldwyn, who recognized her latent genius and bestowed upon her a long-term contract before he had ever seen her upon the screen.

Since her arrival in Hollywood but a few months ago, she has completed but one motion picture—George Fitzmaurice's production of "The Dark Angel," which is booked as a First National offering at the American theatre, beginning Thursday. Yet, with her high degree of intelligence, according to Fitzmaurice, she easily cast off the mannerism and oddities of technique acquired abroad, devoting herself studiously to the Americanization of her work, with astonishing success.

"She combines," says Fitzmaurice, "that indefinable something which apparently is the birthright of the European actress—that intuitive grace and gift of self-repression which stamp indelibly the born artiste—with the less subtle, but more effective method of expression which marks the interpretations of the American player. The combination is irresistible."

"The Dark Angel," which gives American audiences their first glimpse of Miss Banky, is an adaptation from the stage play of the same title.

REPORT FILED ON WATER TEST

Public Square Well is Condemned by State Board.

The division of laboratories of the department of health of the state of Ohio has pronounced water taken from the well in the Lisbon public square as unsatisfactory for public use, according to a report of an analysis just completed and filed with County Health Commissioner Dr. T. Church.

The report of the analysis shows colon bacilli 1cc 0 negative and 2 positive; colon bacilli in 10cc, 0 negative 2 positive. Laboratory conclusion, "unsatisfactory."

Recently Dr. Church called attention of the village council of Lisbon about the condition of the well, and then suggested that the handled drinking cup now in use be supplanted by the village installing a sanitary drinking fountain.

Fred Berry, chief of the division of laboratories, signed the report that was received by Dr. Church.

6,500 New Mortgages Filed Since September In Recorder's Office

"Money appears to be much easier, and the buying of merchandise on the installment plan appears to be on the increase," declared County Recorder Paul Smith.

The record of this office shows that since Mr. Smith took charge Sept. 1st last more than 6,500 chattel mortgages have been filed for record, and it is believed that during the fiscal year of this office at least 7,000 such mortgages will have been made a matter of record.

"Ninety percent of the chattle mortgages being filed have to do with the sale of automobiles," Mr. Smith said. "The balance is divided between pianos, talking machines, radios and furniture," he said.

Cancellation of chattel mortgages is also declared by Mr. Smith to be very active, and this shows, it is pointed out that many, obligations are being paid off in full.

"There are many old chattel mortgages on file that we know should be cancelled, some three and four years old," Mr. Smith said. "We have notified the largest holders to review their records and notify us what mortgages should be cancelled, as we are sorely in need of room for filing new mortgages."

DIVORCE SUIT IS DISMISSED

"It appearing that the parties have agreed upon an amicable settlement, this case is dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff," reads the entry made by Judge W. H. Spence in the divorce action pending in common pleas court, wherein a decree was sought by Josephine Shaw against her husband, Harry Shaw.

This case was filed July 29th last, and at that time a restraining order was issued against Shaw by the court, preventing him from in any way disposing or encumbering his property. There was a brief trial to the court when the case was called, and then the court made the entry which indicates the action has been suspended.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT
BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

It is no longer necessary to drain crankcase oil every 500 miles. Four changes of oil a year are enough, when you own a 1927 Buick.

The crankcase in the 1927 Buick is vacuum cleaned! A vital new improvement—the Vacuum Ventilator—draws all crankcase vapors out into the open before they have an opportunity to do harm.

Now, all that is necessary is to add oil occasionally, and then change it 4 times a year, simply as a supercaution.

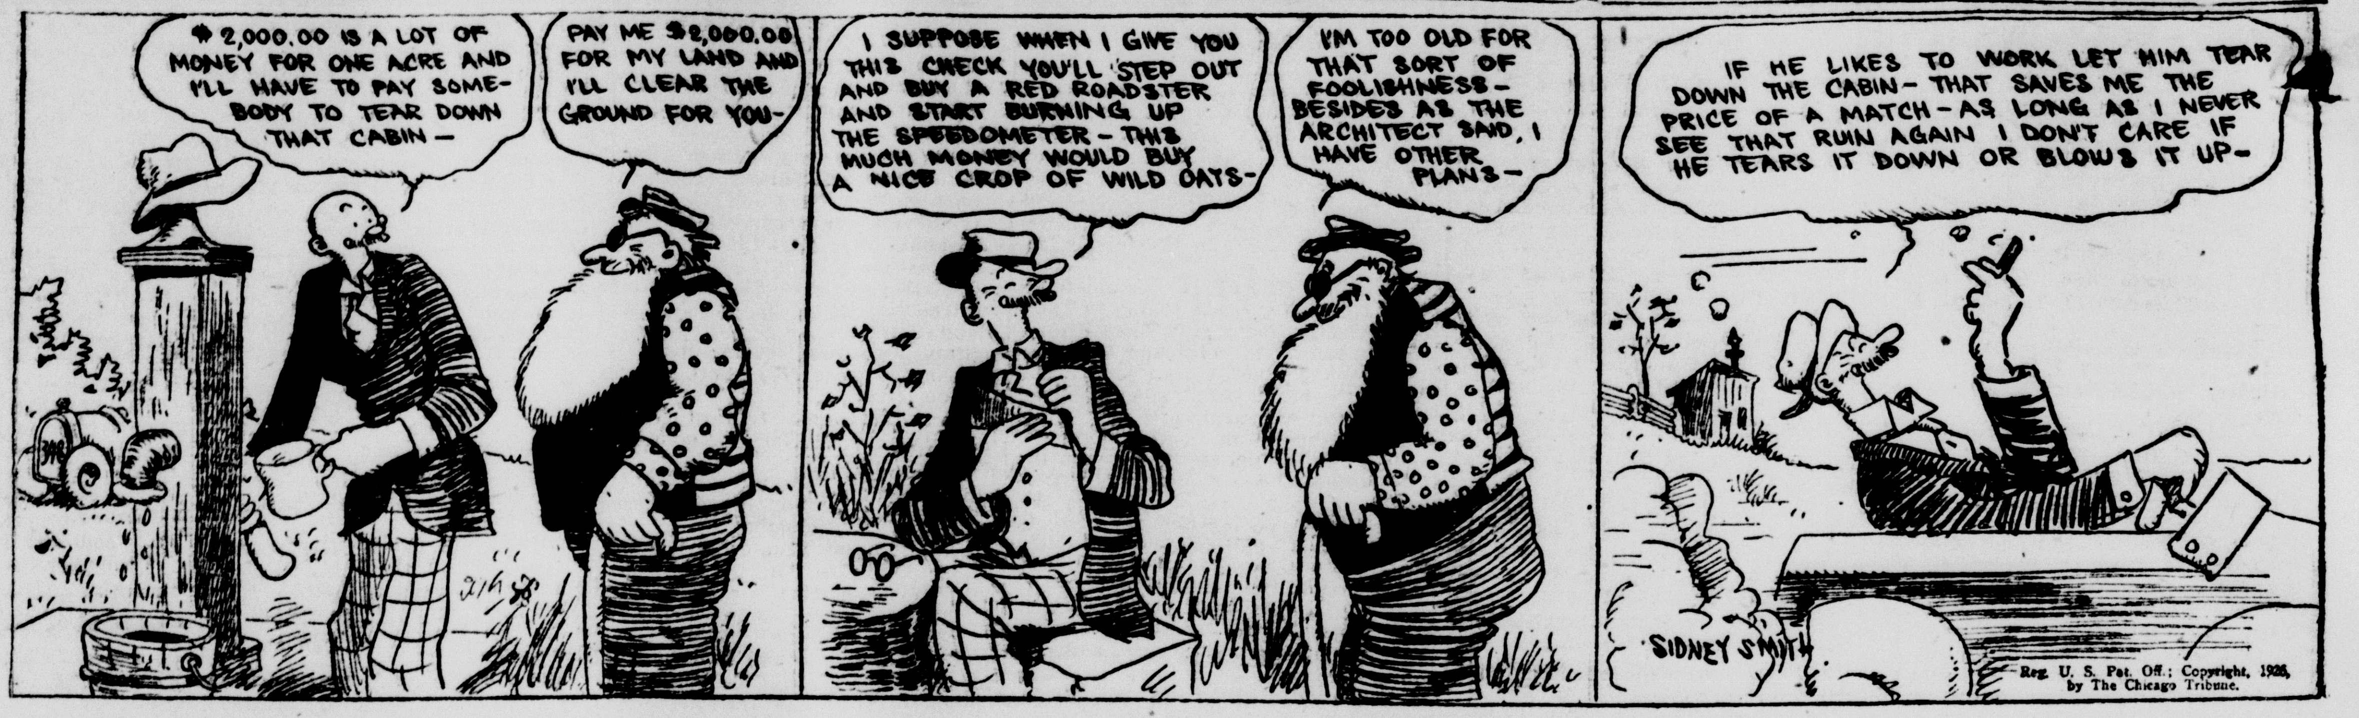
The Gumps By Sidney Smith



$2,000.00 IS A LOT OF MONEY FOR ONE ACRE AND I'LL HAVE TO PAY SOMEBODY TO TEAR DOWN THAT CABIN—
PAY ME $2,000.00 FOR MY LAND AND I'LL CLEAR THE GROUND FOR YOU—
I SUPPOSE WHEN I GIVE YOU THIS CHECK YOU'LL STEP OUT AND BUY A RED ROADSTER AND START BURNING UP THE SPEEDOMETER—THIS MUCH MONEY WOULD BUY A NICE CROP OF WILD OATS—
I'M TOO OLD FOR THAT SORT OF FOOLISHNESS—BESIDES AS THE ARCHITECT SAID, I HAVE OTHER PLANS—
IF HE LIKES TO WORK LET HIM TEAR DOWN THE CABIN—THAT SAVES ME THE PRICE OF A MATCH—AS LONG AS I NEVER SEE THAT RUIN AGAIN I DON'T CARE IF HE TEARS IT DOWN OR BLOWS IT UP—

The vote, with about three fifths of the county tabulated is: George, 2,849; Eckfeld, 1,673; Hoopes 997.

Sixty-four of the county's precincts gave Thad Brown, Columbus, the advantage for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, he having a lead of about 500 over Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati. Brown's majority is expected to be increased to about 800 or 1,000 when the final returns are tabulated. Joseph Seiber, Akron, was running third.

How sweet and dear the name—
Mother;
One who answered life's highest call.
Who so faithfully and sincerely
Gave her life to mother us all.

A life so faithful and so humble.
One of meekness to the end;
In whose life the Christ-like spirit
Seemed to linger and descend.

She had lived the life God gave her,
When just one year ago today,
The gates of heaven swung wide open
And her soul was born away.

From our midst the angels gently
Carried her, on wings of love,
To a higher and better calling
In her heavenly home above.

Cooper and Donahey

had a total of 132,604 to Brown's 116,780.

Beatty Gets 276 in Lucas.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 11.— Myers Cooper carried Cuyahoga county by more than 5,000 votes over Thad Brown, complete unofficial returns of the county indicated today. These gave Cooper 19,529 to Brown's 14,196.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 11.—Complete official figures for Lucas county in Tuesday's election today gave Thad Brown, Republican, 7,771 votes and his opponent for the gubernatorial nomination, Myers Cooper, 2,120. Seiber received 1,476. W. W. Farnsworth got 10,744 for the Republican lieutenant-governorship against 843 for Davis. On the Democratic ticket Governor Vic Donahey got 4,223 votes to Beatty's 276. Atlee Pomerene carried the county over Judge Florence Allen in the Democratic senatorial race, 2,583 to 1,852.

Brown Counts Returns.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—Thad Brown, present secretary of state and who was a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, today declined to concede his defeat by Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, who was leading him at noon by a wide margin.

Meanwhile Brown was superintending the counting and tabulating of returns from yesterday's primary.

Cooper is Grateful.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 11.—"I am very grateful to the electors of Ohio, and especially to those of Hamilton county who have so loyally supported me in the primary," declared Myers Y. Cooper, Hamilton county's aspirant to the governorship, today.

"I expect to immediately begin a vigorous campaign to bring the Republican party to victory in the November election," he concluded.

Home Town Appreciates Cooper.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 11.—The old saying that a man never is appreciated in "his own home town" failed to hold good when Republican citizens of Cincinnati and Hamilton county went to the polls yesterday to choose a candidate for the governorship of Ohio.

As a result, Myers Y. Cooper, the Hamilton county offering in that race, was leagues ahead of contenders in the county returns today.

Cooper was credited with 31,684 votes when the returns of 634 of the county's 638 precincts had been counted. His nearest contender was Harry S. Day, who had 16,843 votes chalked up for him.

Donahey carried the Democratic ticket with an overwhelming majority.

McMullen and Bryan Win Governorship Places in Nebraska

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 11.—The nomination of Gov. Adam McMullen, Republican gubernatorial candidate, who ran on a "bone dry" platform with the endorsement of the Ku Klux Klan, was regarded as virtually certain today as returns from the 20 counties unreported up to midnight continued to pile up his totals. The unofficial count gave McMullen a lead of more than 20,000 over Fred G. Johnson, runner-up.

Strobel Leads Drive With Four Safe Hits; Howell Clouted Hard

"Cracker" is Derricked In Seventh With Two on; Successive Singles by Robinson and Strobel Off Deshler Score Winning Runs.

AFTER faltering on the paths and on the twirling hillock, "Hen" Strobel, long an East Liverpool baseball veteran, turned in and swatted the Victory Motors to a City League victory over the strong Turk-Nash team at Patterson Field last evening. He was responsible for five runs that his club made, and had a perfect day at the bat with two doubles, a triple and a single in four times at the plate. His final rap, a one-base blow to right, drove over the trying and winning runs despite the fact that "Sonny" Deshler, the opposition ace, had taken Howell's place to save the contest. The final count was 8 to 7.

The score was 7 to 5 when, with darkness gathering, Victory Motor came up for their final stick activity in the first of the seventh. Cracker Howell, he of the submarine delivery, had held the auto aggregation up until the time. V. Bailey was up and he drove one to J. Watson that was too hard to handle. Buzzard drew four wide ones. Manager Alcock beckoned the diminutive twirler to the bench and sent out Deshler, first half league leader, to keep the runners on the bags. It was a big assignment.

Sainor hit a wicked fly to right-middle which A. Bayley, by a great run and compelling play, captured. The runners had not moved. The situation then was up to "Robbie," the Motors' catcher whose work has put the club in the running during the second half. He already had negotiated a single and a double in three tries. Again he smote the ball, this time to left field for a single on which V. Bailey crossed the plate. On the throw-in Buzzard reached third and "Robbitt," suffering from an injured leg, hobbled to second. The standing was 7 to 6 as C. Coleman walked into the picture. But he was called out on strikes and two were gone.

Strobel Clears Paths.

Then "Hen" Strobel cinched every claim for being the hero of the contest. With three safe blows already to his credit, he swung and drove the ball to far right along the base line. Before E. Mundy could recover and get the ball to Schneidmiller even the slow running Robinson had followed Buzzard across the plate, evening the scoring and going beyond it by one run. Haught then grounded to Talbot.

Determined to at least tie, Turk-Nash faced "Lefty" Sainor. Though he had pitched against Chester the night before Sainor was stronger at the close than at the beginning of the game. He at once fanned Schneidmiller, first man up. He walked D. Morgan, who stole second, but he caused Talbot to pop to Coleman and J. Watson to fly to Buzzard and the game, going the limit, was over.

With S. Soleman on first in the sixth and H. Strobel on third, the former essayed a delayed steal so as to permit the latter to score. He apparently hesitated too long for he was caught at the plate. But what did it matter? He had done his share of that day's work.

"Hen" led both clubs in batting with four hits, followed by Robinson with three in four tries and A. Bayley, of Turk-Nash, with a like number.

LOU TELLEGEN AT CERAMIC

Elaine Hammerstein is Co-Star in "Parisian Nights."

The rehabilitation of a Paris Apache; the love of a beautiful and talented young American sculptress for the leader of the famous Panthers of the underworld; the jealousy of a fiery little French girl for her ruthless master; underground battles in the dark, mysterious catacombs which run beneath the capital; the bombing of the Apache headquarters by the artillery and a score of other sensational events go to make "Parisian Nights," which comes to the Ceramic theatre for its first showing in this community on Thursday, one of the most interesting pictures of recent release.

Elaine Hammerstein and Lou Tellegen play brilliantly the two leading roles, with a cast in which Renee Adoree, William F. Kelly and Boris Karloff shine brightly, giving exceptionally well-rounded support to the principals.

The clever direction of Al Santell has imbued the production with a flavor of mystery, intrigue and romance not often equalled on the screen.

Cleveland passed up an opportunity to gain ground by losing to Reuther of the Senators, 4 to 1. Joe Harris led the attack on Levsen with three hits.

Brooklyn committed eight errors and went to pieces like a 1909 phonograph in losing to the Pirates, 10 to 2, for their ninth straight defeat. Babe Herman batted 1.000 for the second successive day, clouting a homer and three singles.

NEWELL LOSES AT WELLSVILLE

Four Hits Bunched Off Thomas in Fourth.

WELLSVILLE defeated Laughlin at Central park last evening, 8 to 6.

English was touched for four hits in the fourth inning. With the tying runs on the bases Thomas succeeded him. Two hits of him and an error by Finley spelled a loss for the West Virginians, a rap by Morris being effective in getting the necessary runs over—the latter with two safe drives in two times up had a perfect day at the bat.

Finley, with a double and two singles, in three appearances, led both Clubs in hitting.

Bub'n had two safe drives with Hunselman and Babb one each.

Kestner fanned six Laughlin batters.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON.

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

It is instinctive in the golf swing to "want to help" with the body. This instinct for putting the body into the blow is what fools many players, because this instinct has to be governed and changed into an instinct to put the club into the blow. There is a vast difference between swinging the body and swinging the club, but once the golfer will govern his actions just enough to give him a feel of the club swinging he will quickly sense the difference. The body moves forward easily, without any effort what ever, as the club starts forward, and the player whips the club into the ball wholly with his shoulders, arms and wrists. The body should have a feeling of being pulled through after the clubhead.

Schalk to Observe 14th Anniversary As Major Catcher

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—Ray Schalk, Chicago White Sox catcher, will celebrate his fourteenth anniversary as a big league catcher here this afternoon by catching the opening game of the White Sox-Indian series.

On the morning of Aug. 11, 1912, Schalk reported to the White Sox from the Milwaukee American Association team. Since joining the Sox, Schalk has caught some of the game's greatest pitchers and participated in more than 1,700 championship games in the American league.

Jack-Gene Carry On With Battle Plans

Rickard Scheduled for Session Today With Col. Phelan; Issuance of License for Sept. 16 Scrap Now Mere Formality.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Serene in the belief that what should have been done yesterday will be duly accomplished today, Tex Rickard and Jack Dempsey will make another pilgrimage to the flatiron building this morning for Dempsey's elusive license and what they understand to be a definite engagement with Col. John J. Phelan. The latter may deny this but, after what happened yesterday, he can deny the day of the week and it will be quite all right with me.

The boys must have their joke and I, for one, will laugh just as soon as I can get around to it.

Granting that Rickard knows his canned goods about this supposed engagement, the existence of which Phelen denies, the first thing the promoter will do is produce the Dempsey-Tunney contract, which was in the process of being drafted this morning. The license will be issued automatically. Even the Colonel doesn't deny this.

In fact, it was its absence that he seized upon yesterday for the intended purpose of putting a good face upon a bad situation. He merely succeeded in making the bad situation a trifle worse.

He sat in a tough spot, so he concluded it would be well to quote the boxing rules in effect here on the subject of champions. When he got that far, he already had committed his first of a series of mounmental faux pas. It was not his wish to declare for Harry Wills; in fact, the Colonel was there to tender Wills the merry run-around.

But he seemed to forget that Wills has been the only official challenger here since the Firpo bout. Tunney never got a challenge across, but did even better than that. He lined up the champion personally.

Phelan's next irreconcilable statement was that Dempsey couldn't be allowed to sign such a contract here because he was an unlicensed boxer. In so doing the colonel overlooked the fact that Harry Greb only asked for a license a few hours before his fight with Tiger Flowers. By that time, Greb had signed a contract by some weeks had finished his training and had just been weighed in under the official inspection of the commission.

Add to this his rambling dissertation on the fact that any challenger's name on the Dempsey contract would do, thus creating a precedent for any and all unwilling champions of the future, and his summoning of Harry Wills in order to establish the fact that Wills already had been taken care of by that Indiana contract and you have the colonel at his worst. He, of course was the goat for the entire proceedings, but, even so, it didn't seem necessary to live the part by bleating.

Why didn't he throw a "natural" by merely stating that he couldn't deny a license to a boxer who had just been returned to good standing?

Anyhow, the colonel has lived his moment and the good word is that after this business today, of which he seems to know little, he can be himself again and happier for it.

CHAMPS WIND UP THEIR TRAINING

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. — Two world's champions—Charley Phil Rosenberg and Fidel La Barba—today reached the final stages of training for their pugilistic debuts here in the Cub ball park Friday night.

Rosenberg will meet Joey Sangor, of Milwaukee, and La Barba is matched with Emil Paluso, of Salt Lake City. Both bouts are scheduled for 10 rounds to a decision. Rosenberg's bantam title and La Barba's flyweight crown will not be at stake.

Both title holders rule favorites in their bouts, although Rosenberg's chances for victory are considered better than those of La Barba.

Ken Williams' sixteenth homer of the season enabled the Browns to down the Red Sox, 6 to 4.

Extra Pleasure from an Extra Process

Even without the toasting process, LUCKY STRIKES would rank as very fine cigarettes.

It would be a fine cigarette because it is made of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, perfectly aged and blended.

But the costly extra process of toasting lifts LUCKY STRIKES out of the ordinary, gives LUCKY STRIKES three distinctive features.

Toasting at high heat for 45 minutes (1) removes all "bite" and harshness and (2) develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. Then (3) sudden chilling seals in these flavors and the proper degree of moisture which keeps them always fresh.

"IT'S TOASTED" represents a costly extra process that adds the finishing touch to a wonderfully fine cigarette.

BECAUSE IT'S TOASTED

That's Why Luckies Taste So Good

Haskin's Letter

caciques, or chiefs, and that in extending his settlement to get enough food to sustain it, he would probably have to exterminate all the Indians he met. Other early Spanish fighters recorded that these men stood their ground and fought until superior weapons and armor wiped them out.

The collections at the National Museum now contain a considerable and comprehensive exhibit of the culture of southeastern Panama. They include the domestic and agricultural implements, building materials and uses of cane and bamboo, domestic utensils, hammocks, stools, and children's toys. There are also examples of the weapons of the tribes dating back to very ancient times. These include also their canoes and paddles, their fishing tackle and harpoons. Bows and arrows, spears darts, and knives of wood and metal are among their weapons, and they were early users of the blowpipe and dart, including the practice of poisoning their darts.

Their pottery is very diverse, indicating a relatively high culture, and their wood carving quite extensive. Many fine examples of this are in the Museum collection. Carved staffs were the insignia of office of their chiefs, and were also widely used by their medicine men in the arts of healing and magic. They were weavers of baskets, of which the Museum has a large number, and also used bark and grasses for clothing and did some weaving with a sort of native cotton. Examples of their flutes and drums are also in the collection.

An interesting feature of the life of these tribes is an ancient religious belief in a universal inundation, or flood, from which they believe but six persons were spared, the founders of their tribes. These six were a man and woman of white skin, of light brown, and of dark brown. The former are accounted for because there are a number of semi-albinos, or "white Indians" among the Tule and Cuna tribes. They relate that following the great flood these six people came down from the high mountains and founded their race. In other respects their beliefs are in a Great Spirit and something akin to the "happy hunting ground" of many other Indian peoples.

In the rural districts 5,768 automobiles are registered.

The automobiles license fees, the report shows, netted $63,659.96, of which $42,429.96 is credited to corporations and $21,229 goes to the rural sections.

The city of East Liverpool has been given a credit of $17,611.36; Salem, $8,293.05; Wellsville, $4,152.52; East Palestine, $3,505.03; Lisbon, $2,963.75; Columbiana, $2,318.53; Leetonia, $1,328.44; Salineville, $1,285.42; New Waterford, $317.80; Washingtonville, $252.85; Hanoverton, $218.50; Rogers $182.71.

Fully 1,500 more machines are expected to be registered in the county before the end of the present year. This will bring the automobile census up to the 20,000 mark.

More than 84,000 American safety razors were sent to Australia in the past year.

Florida Town Bans School Teachers Who are Dancers

BLOUNTSTOWN, Fla.—"Down with the dance!" is the cry of Calhoun county school board. At its last meeting the board decided that teachers who dance or encourage dancing will not be permitted to teach in county school.

The school board's dictum reads: "No teachers who dance or encourage same shall be allowed to teach in the public schools of Calhoun county if said dancing is participated in at any time from Monday to Friday night. All teachers will be required to sign a contract agreeing to conform to this rule."

Members of the board declare that of late many school teachers have been tripping the light fantastic to an excessive degree with damaging results to the progress of their pupils.

IT IS suggested that 19 old churches in London, threatened with demolition, some designed by Sir Christopher Wren, be removed and set up in the United States.

Better spend the money for a monument to Wren, one of the world's great men. He was a great architect, great mathematician and a great astronomer.

LAST words of great men are piously collected. Frederick the Great's "Tete D'Armee," Pitt's, "My Country, How I Love Thee," or "How I Leave Thee," Goethe's "More Light," etc.

A YOUNG policeman, Frank Murphy, killed by bandits in the course of duty, said to his captain, who condoled with him, as he lay dying "That's all right, cap, it's all in the job." Those last words are as good as any.

NEWS comes from Denmark on uprisings in Russia, stories of Trotzky leading military revolts.

The Russian government has power, first of all the power of revolution, which is great. It enabled French revolutionists to conquer and terrorize European countries.

The revolution in Russia possesses the power that comes of giving land to people working on it.

HERE a religious-political fight starts two years ahead of time. Bishop Adna W. Leonard, general superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church in New York, attacking Governor Al Smith, says "no governor, be he nullificationist or not, can kiss a papal ring and ever get within gunshot of the White House."

BISHOP LEONARD wants "immigration laws enforced against Latin races that would flock to this country." The bishop shouted, "I am 100 per cent Anglo-Saxon, America is a Protestant nation and always will remain so."

The bishop might remember that if Christopher Columbus who was not 100 per cent Anglo-Saxon, hadn't come to America the earnest bishop might not be here.

THIS is a religious country, financially at least. Dr. Lovejoy, of the "Council of the Churches of Christ of the United States and Canada," says religious Americans gave to religion last year $648,000,000. That sum, about $6 a head for everybody in the United States, ought to save many souls, if carefully spent.

On the other hand, you notice that the little New England church was packed when Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge attended divine service, whereas ordinarily there are plenty of empty seats the president is well worth seeing, of course, but, if religion were really a vital part of life you would expect the church to be crowded with or without the president, the Lord himself being always there.

EMMONS, VAN FOSSAN ARE CHOSEN FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE PLACES

100 PERSONS REPORTED DEAD IN CHURCH WAR

Forty Catholics are Killed in One Mexican State.

17 ARE EXECUTED

Indians Throughout Michoacan are in Inflammatory Mood.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—Almost 100 persons were killed in fighting for possession of churches in the states of Michoacan, Jalisco and Guadalajara, in connection with the dispute between the Catholic church and the government of Mexico, delayed reports indicated today.

Forty Catholics, including several priests, were killed in Zaguayo, Michoacan, alone, according to Leopoldo Quiz Cizernos' arch-bishop of Michoacan, who arrived in the capital this morning with a [illegible] harrowing experiences.

Seventeen of this number, the archbishop said, were cold-blooded executions perpetrated by the soldiers after victory had been conceded.

The Indians throughout Michoacan were in a highly inflammatory state and Archbishop said that further blood shed was almost inevitable. He said he was forced to flee because the authorities tried to arrest him, notwithstanding the fact that he had done his utmost to calm the Catholics.

American officials have just received confirmation of the report that between 50 and 60 have been killed in the struggle for the possession of the three churches of Guadadajara.

The situation in Jalisco is represented as grave although actual fighting appears to have ceased.

Widow Appointed Sheriff to Succeed Her Slain Husband

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Aug. 11.—Mrs. Mary Kreb Dunfee, widow of Sheriff Sam Dunfee, slain a week ago by an alleged rum runner, at Provident, O., near here, today became Ohio's second woman sheriff.

Mrs. Dunfee was appointed to succeed her husband today by county commissioners. She is the mother of five children.

Her first official act was to impanel a special grand jury to probe the death of her husband.

Alleged Witnesses Of Double Murder To Be Arrested

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 11.—Two alleged witnesses of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mille were to be arrested in New Brunswick today if the tentative plans of Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson are carried out. A third arrest is planned but is uncertain.

Testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," who said she recognized two of the persons at the murder scene, a man and a woman, is said to be responsible for the warrants for the arrests.

Thad Brown Spurts to Front in County Balloting for Republican Gubernatorial Nomination.

GOV. DONAHEY CARRIES COUNTY

Senator Willis Has Easy Sailing, While Pomerene is Running Ahead of Judge Allen.

Unofficial returns from 66 of the county's 105 precincts, which had been tabulated today, indicated the nomination of George Wright, East Liverpool, for sheriff; Elmer E. Walker, Damascus, for county auditor; Fred George, Madison township, for county treasurer, and probably J. H. Sinclair, Hanoverton, for county commissioner, on the Republican ticket in yesterday's primaries.

On the Democratic ticket there were no contests for county offices.

Cope Third in Race.

On the face of early returns, Ralph W. Emmons, East Rochester, and W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, appear to be the Republican nominees for state representative, H. D. Cope, Rogers, and R. D. Smith, Salineville, are running a poor third and fourth, respectively. The 66 precincts for which returns had been tabulated included East Liverpol, Salem and Wellsville and scattering reports from East Palestine, Lisbon and rural communities.

The vote for state representative was: Emmons, 3,509; Van Fossan, 2,516; Cope, 1,573, and Smith, 1,075.

Sheriff George Wright apparently is an easy winner over David H. Eells, Lisbon, for the Republican re-nomination, the tabulation giving Wright 3,220 and Eells 1,615. Returns, which are yet to be tabulated are expected to make no change in the running order of the two candidates. Wright was given majorities in East Liverpool and Wellsville, but the vote in Salem was close.

Ferren Is Defeated.

Elmer E. Walker, filling the unexpired term of Charles Hamilton as county auditor, has been nominated over ex-Mayor Albert Ferren, East Palestine, by almost a two to one vote. Except for the first ward, Ferren's former home, Walker out-distanced him in East Liverpool. Ferren carried his adopted city, East Palestine. The

Beatty Will Run In 1928 as "Double Wet or Bone Dry"

James C. B. Beatty, East Liverpool pottery job, defeated for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1924 and again at yesterday's primary election, today announced he will be a candidate for the office at the 1928 balloting.

Beatty said he would run on either an independent ticket, double wet, or a Democratic ticket, bone dry.

His statement says:

"In answer to the results of yesterday's primary election I wish to advise the citizens of Ohio that in 1928 I will be a candidate for governor of Ohio on either an independent ticket, double wet, or a Democratic ticket, bone dry, and will offer the patronage of the state to the two highest bidders in both elements."

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—"I congratulate Senator Atlee Pomerene on the outcome of the Ohio primary."

With these words Miss Florence Allen, 42 year justice of the state supreme court, conceded her defeat for the Democratic nomination for United States senator today.

Judge Allen expressed her thanks to her supporters.

Pomerene's followers hailed his 3 to 2 lead over Miss Allen as a victory.

On the face of returns from 3,788 precincts, Pomerene had a 14,000 plurality. His total was 44,135, while Miss Allen's was 30,738.

Miss Allen dropped behind Pomerene in the first counting. Throughout the night she showed strength from time to time as returns came in from sections of the state where she had made strenuous personal campaigns.

STATE SENATOR H. M. CARPENTER SETS PACE IN DISTRICT RACE

Earl R Lewis is Running Mate on G O P. Ticket.

ONE OPPONENT

Murphy and Nolan Will Contest for Congress.

Although figures were not available today, State Senator Harry C. Carpenter, Steubenville, and Attorney Earl R. Lewis, St. Clairsville, were returned winners in the race for the Republican senatorial places from the 20th-22nd district in yesterday's primaries.

Carpenter, who has served two terms in the state legislature polled a heavy vote in the four counties of the district. Lewis ran second in Columbiana and Jefferson and was well supported in Belmont and Harrison counties. The other candidates were William C. Fretter and G. Frank Malin, both of Belmont county.

Forty-three out of 105 precincts in Columbiana gave Carpenter 2,465: Lewis 1,201; Malin 638 and Fretter 193.

George J. Barrett, also of Belmont county, had no opposition for the Democratic nomination.

Congressman Frank Murphy and Attorney John F. Nolan, both of Steubenville, were unopposed for the Republican and Democratic nominations for congressman for the 18th district and will oppose each other at the November election.

The race for member of the Republican state central committee from the 18th district was in doubt today as no returns were available from Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison and Carroll counties. In Columbiana county, W. Campbell George, East Palestine pottery manufacturer, was leading A. U. Richardson,, East Liverpool, by nearly 300 votes in 48 precincts. The vote was :George 1,470, Richardson 1,167. The other candidate is Allen Scott, Cadiz, who polled 543 votes in the same precincts. Richardson lost East Liverpool. The contest is to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles Hamilton, Lisbon.

A spirited fight also developed for member of the Democratic state central committee between J. V. Lawler, Jr., Carrollton publisher, and R. T. Michener and John R. Murphy, both of Belmont county. Lawler made an active campaign for the office. No reports on this contest were available.

Hugo Black Appears Certain to Succeed Senator Underwood

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 11.—Steadily clinging to a commanding lead over his nearest opponent, Hugo L. Black, Birmingham attorney, appeared almost a certainty to succeed Oscar Underwood in the United States senate from Alabama, on the basis of meager returns this morning from the Alabama Democratic primary elections.

The race for governor appeared to lie between Colonel Bibb Graves of Montgomery and Lieutenant Governor Charles McDowell, who were running neck and neck.

L. B. Musgrove, endorsed by the national officers of the Ku Klux Klan, was tailing in the senatorial race and it was apparent the bulk of the Klan strength had refused to follow the lead of the national officers and had voted almost solidly for Black, who also made a play for Klan support.

Negro, Who Flees, is Subdued With Night Sticks.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Detective John Singer was shot and killed in police headquarters here early today and Gene Pearce, negro, his slayer, was captured three hours later.

Pearce, a giant negro, was arrested by Singer on a charge of automobile theft. Singer took him to police headquarters and was making an entry in a record book when the captive snatched the detective's revolver from its holster and emptied it into the body of his captor. Then he fled.

Hundreds of policemen searched the city for the negro. Pearce was located by Patrolman John White and after a desperate fight was subdued by other policemen armed with night sticks. The negro was unconscious when taken to police headquarters.

DANISH VESSEL IS TORPEDOED

KIEL, Germany, Aug. 1.—The Danish sailing vessel "Sigrid" was sunk today by a torpedo, fired by a German destroyer during maneuvers in the Baltic.

The crew of the destroyer saved the crew of five of the Danish vessel, after making an effort to save the ship from sinking.

CHEVROLET CAR REPORTED STOLEN

Nathan Franklin, 140 West Seventh street, reported to Patrolman Chester Smith today that his Chevrolet touring car, 1923 model, had been stolen while parked in the downtown district last night. The machine carried Ohio license No. 243-405.

MILLS, BLOOM, POMERENE AND WILLIS ALSO ARE NOMINATED

Clarence Brown and Newman Victors in Race for Secretary.

BUCKLEY ON TOP

Matthias, Jones, McBride and Conn Named for Judge.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—The drys put over two big winners in Ohio's primary, returns from almost half of the state's 8,649 precincts showed today.

Myers Cooper of Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Council of Churches, won the Republican nomination for governor.

Senator Frank B. Willis walked off with the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Cooper's Lead is 15,000.

In the Democratic senatorial race Ex-Senator Atlee Pomerene, an acknowledged wet, defeated Judge Florence Allen, a dry and an exponent of the World Court. Pomerene's victory forecasts a bitter wet-dry battle in Ohio at the November election.

Governor V. A. Donahey won the Democratic nomination for governor beating his nearest opponent, Former Secretary of Agriculture A. P. Sandles, 6 to 1.

Returns from 3,836 precincts gave Senator Willis a 4 to 1 lead over C. Q. Hildebrandt, of Wilmington, Ohio, the runner up.

Willis had 82,467, Hildebrandt 20,833, and Charles Dick, Akron, 17,526.

J. O. Mills, the restauranteur, had an almost 2 to 1 lead for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. Mills received in 3,836 precincts a total of 49,840. W. W. Farnsworth of Westerville, his nearest opponent, had 28,321, while J. F. Burke of Elyria was running third with 20,085.

Cooper's victory was in doubt until this morning when after running most of the night neck and neck with Thad H. Brown, secretary of state, he took a commanding lead when heavy returns from his home county, Hamilton county, were tabulated. One block of 630 Hamilton precincts gave Cooper 24,000 majority. Outside of Hamilton county Cooper was running even with Brown.

With returns tabulated from 6,854 of the state's 3,649 precincts, Cooper

CITIES' PROPOSED FINANCIAL FREEDOM AMENDMENT IS DEFEATED BY VOTERS OF COUNTY AND STATE

Columbiana county voters at yesterday's primary election, apparently rejected a proposed amendment to the constitution, which would give municipalities authority to assess street improvement costs upon abutting property instead of taxpayers at large.

Forty-seven precincts out of the county's 105, including East Liverpool, Salem and Wellsville, cast 1,538 votes for the proposal and 1,925 against it. If this ratio is maintained, a majority of 800 or more will be returned against the plan.

East Liverpool voters rejected the amendment by a vote of 723 to 663, while electors of Wellsville turned it down by the count of 578 to 314. The issue lost in Salem by 31 votes, the count being 445 for the amendment and 476 against it. Rural precints voted the proposal.

The proposed amendment to the constitution, which applied to cities only, would have permitted the charging of more than half the cost of acquiring land for public improvements against the benefited property. By the present plan no more than 50 percent of the cost of improvement can be assesed against abutting property. Many cities, loaded down with public expenses, are unable to bear the share of such improvements which the constitution imposes upon them by the present arrangement.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11—Ohio municipalities apparently have lost another round in their fight for financial freedom.

The proposed constitutional amendment, which would have permitted them to charge more than half the cost of acquiring land for public improvements against the benefited property, was defeated, according to the early returns.

An early tabulation shows a vote of almost 2 to 1 against the constitutional change.

The rural districts which could not have been affected by the amendment, cast a decisive vote against it in spite of the support of agricultural leaders and that of the grange and other farm organizations.

Alleged Witnesses Of Double Murder To Be Arrested

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 11.—Two alleged witnesses of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mille were to be arrested in New Brunswick today if the tentative plans of Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson are carried out. A third arrest is planned but is uncertain.

Testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," who said she recognized two of the persons at the murder scene, a man and a woman, is said to be responsible for the warrants for the arrests.

Thad Brown Spurts to Front in County Balloting for Republican Gubernatorial Nomination.

GOV. DONAHEY CARRIES COUNTY

Senator Willis Has Easy Sailing, While Pomerene is Running Ahead of Judge Allen.

Unofficial returns from 66 of the county's 105 precincts, which had been tabulated today, indicated the nomination of George Wright, East Liverpool, for sheriff; Elmer E. Walker, Damascus, for county auditor; Fred George, Madison township, for county treasurer, and probably J. H. Sinclair, Hanoverton, for county commissioner, on the Republican ticket in yesterday's primaries.

On the Democratic ticket there were no contests for county offices.

Cope Third in Race.

On the face of early returns, Ralph W. Emmons, East Rochester, and W. H. Van Fossan, Lisbon, appear to be the Republican nominees for state representative, H. D. Cope, Rogers, and R. D. Smith, Salineville, are running a poor third and fourth, respectively. The 66 precincts for which returns had been tabulated included East Liverpol, Salem and Wellsville and scattering reports from East Palestine, Lisbon and rural communities.

The vote for state representative was: Emmons, 3,509; Van Fossan, 2,516; Cope, 1,573, and Smith, 1,075.

Sheriff George Wright apparently is an easy winner over David H. Eells, Lisbon, for the Republican re-nomination, the tabulation giving Wright 3,220 and Eells 1,615. Returns, which are yet to be tabulated are expected to make no change in the running order of the two candidates. Wright was given majorities in East Liverpool and Wellsville, but the vote in Salem was close.

Ferren Is Defeated.

Elmer E. Walker, filling the unexpired term of Charles Hamilton as county auditor, has been nominated over ex-Mayor Albert Ferren, East Palestine, by almost a two to one vote. Except for the first ward, Ferren's former home, Walker out-distanced him in East Liverpool. Ferren carried his adopted city, East Palestine. The

Beatty Will Run In 1928 as "Double Wet or Bone Dry"

James C. B. Beatty, East Liverpool pottery job, defeated for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1924 and again at yesterday's primary election, today announced he will be a candidate for the office at the 1928 balloting.

Beatty said he would run on either an independent ticket, double wet, or a Democratic ticket, bone dry.

His statement says:

"In answer to the results of yesterday's primary election I wish to advise the citizens of Ohio that in 1928 I will be a candidate for governor of Ohio on either an independent ticket, double wet, or a Democratic ticket, bone dry, and will offer the patronage of the state to the two highest bidders in both elements."

THANKS FRIENDS

Willis Has Lead of 4 to 1 Over Hildebrandt.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—"I congratulate Senator Atlee Pomerene on the outcome of the Ohio primary."

With these words Miss Florence Allen, 42 year justice of the state supreme court, conceded her defeat for the Democratic nomination for United States senator today.

Judge Allen expressed her thanks to her supporters.

Pomerene's followers hailed his 3 to 2 lead over Miss Allen as a victory.

On the face of returns from 3,788 precincts, Pomerene had a 14,000 plurality. His total was 44,135, while Miss Allen's was 30,738.

Miss Allen dropped behind Pomerene in the first counting. Throughout the night she showed strength from time to time as returns came in from sections of the state where she had made strenuous personal campaigns.

STATE SENATOR H. M. CARPENTER SETS PACE IN DISTRICT RACE

Earl R. Lewis is Running Mate on G. O. P. Ticket.

ONE OPPONENT

Murphy and Nolan Will Contest for Congress.

Although figures were not available today, State Senator Harry C. Carpenter, Steubenville, and Attorney Earl R. Lewis, St. Clairsville, were returned winners in the race for the Republican senatorial places from the 20th-22nd district in yesterday's primaries.

Carpenter, who has served two terms in the state legislature polled a heavy vote in the four counties of the district. Lewis ran second in Columbiana and Jefferson and was well supported in Belmont and Harrison counties. The other candidates were William C. Fretter and G. Frank Malin, both of Belmont county.

Forty-three out of 105 precincts in Columbiana gave Carpenter 2,465; Lewis 1,201; Malin 638 and Fretter 193.

George J. Barrett, also of Belmont county, had no opposition for the Democratic nomination.

Congressman Frank Murphy and Attorney John F. Nolan, both of Steubenville, were unopposed for the Republican and Democratic nominations for congressman for the 18th district and will oppose each other at the November election.

The race for member of the Republican state central committee from the 18th district was in doubt today as no returns were available from Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison and Carroll counties. In Columbiana county, W. Campbell George, East Palestine pottery manufacturer, was leading A. U. Richardson, East Liverpool, by nearly 300 votes in 48 precincts. The vote was: George 1,470, Richardson 1,167. The other candidate is Allen Scott, Cadiz, who polled 543 votes in the same precincts. Richardson lost East Liverpool. The contest is to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles Hamilton, Lisbon.

A spirited fight also developed for member of the Democratic state central committee between J. V. Lawler, Jr., Carrollton publisher, and R. T. Michener and John R. Murphy, both of Belmont county. Lawler made an active campaign for the office. No reports on this contest were available.

Hugo Black Appears Certain to Succeed Senator Underwood

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 11.—Steadily clinging to a commanding lead over his nearest opponent, Hugo L. Black, Birmingham attorney, appeared almost a certainty to succeed Oscar Underwood in the United States senate from Alabama, on the basis of meager returns this morning from the Alabama Democratic primary elections.

The race for governor appeared to lie between Colonel Bibb Graves of Montgomery and Lieutenant Governor Charles McDowell, who were running neck and neck.

L. B. Musgrove, endorsed by the national officers of the Ku Klux Klan, was tailing in the senatorial race and it was apparent the bulk of the Klan strength had refused to follow the lead of the national officers and had voted almost solidly for Black, who also made a play for Klan support.

Negro, Who Flees, is Subdued With Night Sticks.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Detective John Singer was shot and killed in police headquarters here early today and Gene Pearce, negro, his slayer, was captured three hours later.

Pearce, a giant negro, was arrested by Singer on a charge of automobile theft. Singer took him to police headquarters and was making an entry in a record book when the captive snatched the detective's revolver from its holster and emptied it into the body of his captor. Then he fled.

Hundreds of policemen searched the city for the negro. Pearce was located by Patrolman John White and after a desperate fight was subdued by other policemen armed with night sticks. The negro was unconscious when taken to police headquarters.

DANISH VESSEL IS TORPEDOED

KIEL, Germany, Aug. 1.—The Danish sailing vessel "Sigrid" was sunk today by a torpedo, fired by a German destroyer during maneuvers in the Baltic.

The crew of the destroyer saved the crew of five of the Danish vessel, after making an effort to save the ship from sinking.

CHEVROLET CAR REPORTED STOLEN

Nathan Franklin, 140 West Seventh street, reported to Patrolman Chester Smith today that his Chevrolet touring car, 1923 model, had been stolen while parked in the downtown district last night. The machine carried Ohio license No. 243-405.

Clarence Brown and Newman Victors in Race for Secretary.

BUCKLEY ON TOP

Matthias, Jones, McBride and Conn Named for Judge.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11.—The drys put over two big winners in Ohio's primary, returns from almost half of the state's 8,649 precincts showed today.

Myers Cooper of Cincinnati, president of the Ohio Council of Churches, won the Republican nomination for governor.

Senator Frank B. Willis walked off with the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Cooper's Lead is 15,000.

In the Democratic senatorial race Ex-Senator Atlee Pomerene, an acknowledged wet, defeated Judge Florence Allen, a dry and an exponent of the World Court. Pomerene's victory forecasts a bitter wet-dry battle in Ohio at the November election.

Governor V. A. Donahey won the Democratic nomination for governor beating his nearest opponent, Former Secretary of Agriculture A. P. Sandles, 6 to 1.

Returns from 3,836 precincts gave Senator Willis a 4 to 1 lead over C. Q. Hildebrandt, of Wilmington, Ohio, the runner up.

Willis had 82,467. Hildebrandt 20,833, and Charles Dick, Akron, 17,526.

J. O. Mills, the restauranteur, had an almost 2 to 1 lead for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. Mills received in 3,836 precincts a total of 49,840. W. W. Farnsworth of Westerville, his nearest opponent, had 28,321, while J. F. Burke of Elyria was running third with 20,085.

Cooper's victory was in doubt until this morning when after running most of the night neck and neck with Thad H. Brown, secretary of state, he took a commanding lead when heavy returns from his home county, Hamilton county, were tabulated. One block of 630 Hamilton precincts gave Cooper 24,000 majority. Outside of Hamilton county Cooper was running even with Brown.

With returns tabulated from 6,854 of the state's 8,649 precincts, Cooper

CITIES' PROPOSED FINANCIAL FREEDOM AMENDMENT IS DEFEATED BY VOTERS OF COUNTY AND STATE

Columbiana county voters at yesterday's primary election, apparently rejected a proposed amendment to the constitution, which would give municipalities authority to assess street improvement costs upon abutting property instead of taxpayers at large.

Forty-seven precincts out of the county's 105, including East Liverpool, Salem and Wellsville, cast 1,538 votes for the proposal and 1,925 against it. If this ratio is maintained, a majority of 800 or more will be returned against the plan.

East Liverpool voters rejected the amendment by a vote of 723 to 663, while electors of Wellsville turned it down by the count of 578 to 314. The issue lost in Salem by 31 votes, the count being 445 for the amendment and 476 against it. Rural precints voted the proposal.

The proposed amendment to the constitution, which applied to cities only, would have permitted the charging of more than half the cost of acquiring land for public improvements against the benefited property. By the present plan no more than 50 percent of the cost of improvement can be assesed against abutting property. Many cities, loaded down with public expenses, are unable to bear the share of such improvements which the constitution imposes upon them by the present arrangement.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11—Ohio municipalities apparently have lost another round in their fight for financial freedom.

The proposed constitutional amendment, which would have permitted them to charge more than half the cost of acquiring land for public improvements against the benefited property, was defeated, according to the early returns.

An early tabulation shows a vote of almost 2 to 1 against the constitutional change.

The rural districts which could not have been affected by the amendment, cast a decisive vote against it in spite of the support of agricultural leaders and that of the grange and other farm organizations.

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT.

"Arthur,"—Bee's hands were clenched tightly at her sides; her eyes were filling,—"do you realize that that poor girl is down there in my bed actually dying? Do you realize that we've got to get word to her father and mother tonight and plunge them into the bitterest sort of tragedy? . . No, listen to me! It doesn't matter now whether she's modern or not—or whether she hadn't a strong enough head for your sort of thing." Contempt crept into her voice at this point, but the poet didn't flinch. "A marriage will give her something to hold to. It is the one thing that may save her life. And it will save something for her father and mother—enable them to hold theih heads up, at least."

"But, Bee—really—do I understand this? Are you proposing that I marry the girl to make an honest woman of her?"

"Yet. That. Exactly that."

"Strange."

"You've got to, Arthur."

"Pretty strong words, Bee."

"And now, tonight."

"Oh, really, Bee—"

"If you don't do it willingly, I'll make you."

"Threats?"

"Certainly. Threats."

"What a curious idea of marriage! H'm—sanctity! Understand, I'm as sorry as you that the poor child—"

"I shall wire your father this evening. And I shall make everything perfectly clear to him—"

"My father will hardly thank you for that. He knows perfectly well that I live my own life. For heaven's sake, Bee, try to face this thing rationally! I've always sensed a Victorian strain in you, but I never supposed you were—"

Fred, standing apart, watching the composure gradually slip from this cool, selfish brain now spoke.

"It goes a great deal deeper than that, Bee. This man—"

"I shall really have to ask," interposed Rockwell, 'in what capacity this gentleman is here."

Fred, however, gave Bee no opportunity to explain. 'I am here to see that you do the right thing, Rockwell."

"The right thing!" Arthur's lips curled nervously into a smile as he considered the trite old phrase. "Really, Bee—"

"If you don't mind, Bee,"—she bowed to Fred's quietly deepening grip on the situation,—"I'll speak a little more plainly to this man." He turned on him. "Your father will have to know, naturally, Rockwell. You see, there's the little matter of money to be considered."

"Oh,"—contemptuously, —"money, "money, eh?"

"Certainly." Fred's keen eyes hadn't missed the hint of a glistening moisture gathering just above the poet's temples. "For one thing, this doctoring and nursing is pretty expensive. It is your idea to dump all that responsibility on these two girls?"

"Certainly not. I told you I'd do anything I could. When Delia came to me begging me to marry her, I simply had to refuse. It would have led to no happiness. It was simply unsound. That wasn't at all the sort of thing we'd decided. It was perfectly understood."

"Wait a minute," said Kendall. "She told you—everything."

"Why, really—"

"She told you. We know that."

"All right. She told me. Go on."

"And you turned her off. You knew she'd need help—a good deal of help."

"You have no right to say I turned her off. I refused to marry her, yes. But I wouldn't have let her suffer. It wasn't a question of money then. It wasn't time for money—nowhere near."

"Just a minute. You were booked to sail for Central America on Saturday—to be gone for one or two years."

"I am attached to the Birmingham Expedition, yes."

"Then how did you figure you were going to help her? You were planning not to be here."

"Bee,"—Arthur turned to her,—"I don't know who this man is, and I hesitate to seem discourteous to you, but I'm beginning to wonder if the situation isn't verging on an attempt at blackmail."

"This man is an old friend of mine, Arthur. He is here at my request. And if you don't stop wasting time and show us a little human decency, just a little, I won't undertake to be responsible for what he may do to you."

"Oh, really, Bee—"

"He's asking for trouble, Bee," said Kendall. "Let's go on with it. I'll give him all he wants.—You realize, Rockwell, that money, some money, is needed at once, and that you've got to produce it. Furthermore, you should realize that if you keep up your present attitude, you're going to need a lot more for legal expenses."

"Are you an officer of the law?"

Kendall stood directly over him, looking firmly down into the now glistening and weakening face. "I'll answer that by telling you—and I want you to get this, get it right: I have friends in the District Attorney's office. We know that you gave her the poison—"

"Good God, man, I didn't give it to her to eat!"

"We know all about that. We know where you bought the bottle. You had to sign for it at the druggist's. Don't forget that. We know—"

"But—but—"

"I'm simply warning you, Rockwell. You're a very complacent young man—very self-willed. I won't waste on you now the epithets that come to my mind. I just want to get this clearly into your head; if you don't choose to go through with this marriage tonight, if you're not willing to take full human responsibility for this desperate situation, I'm going to put through one of the dirtiest criminal trials New York has seen since the Thaw case. You wreck that girl's life? All right, I'll wreck yours. Your whole career, mind. I'll crush you as completely as you've crushed her. And I'll smash the happiness of your parents, your whole family, exactly as you're smashing hers. Do you get it? Is it plain?"

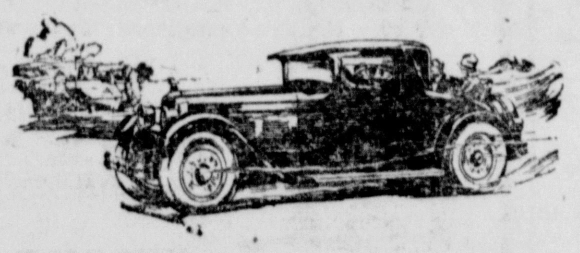
New SAFETY STUTZ

Traffic experts acclaim this adoption of Safety Glass

The symbol of Safety



ALL traffic authorities agree that the general adoption of safety-glass all around as regular equipment, now pioneered by and exclusive to the New Safety Stutz, will result in a great reduction of motoring injuries.

From the very beginning, every New Stutz car has a safety-glass windshield. Then the builders of this surpassingly safe automobile, noting the increasing frequency of newspaper reports chronicling damage from flying glass, decided that the New Safety Stutz should have safety-glass all around.

And so, safety-glass has been put into every window, and window-ventilator, every windshield, and windshield-wing of all New Safety Stutz models.

This voluntary adoption of safety-glass, at no additional expense to the car owner, means that the ultimate step has been taken by the builders of the New Safety Stutz to provide the safest private passenger automobile ever built. And this safety feature is obtainable in no car other than the New Safety Stutz.

The safety-glass feature is naturally pioneered by the designers who were first to radically lower the center of mass weight and so produce an automobile of incomparable stability; who were first to adopt the improved hydrostatic four-wheel brakes developed by Timken; who made their frame the strongest and most rigid built, with integral steel running-boards or "side bumpers"; who brought steel into the construction of their bodies to give maximum strength and narrow, clear-vision front corner-posts.

And the builders of the New Safety Stutz now announce the latest development in the Fedco System of Theft Prevention and Detection. Additional protection is now given each owner, all without cost to him, by indemnity against loss of use resulting from theft, at the rate of five dollars per day, up to thirty days.

New Safety Stutz models with their exclusive features are now on display at our show-rooms. See the New Safety Stutz, ride in it, drive it.

An exclusive feature of the New Safety Stutz is Loss-of-Use Insurance, paying the car owner five dollars per day, up to thirty days, for loss of the car's use through theft. This is without cost to the car owner.

The entire car has Underwriters' Class A rating on both fire and theft.

Eight body styles, including 7-passenger models, designed and constructed under the supervision of Brewster of New York.

All closed bodies automatically ventilated by Hubbard Ventilating Eaves—another exclusive feature.

"Oh,"—contemptuously, —"money, "money, eh?"

"Certainly." Fred's keen eyes hadn't missed the hint of a glistening moisture gathering just above the poet's temples. "For one thing, this doctoring and nursing is pretty expensive. It is your idea to dump all that responsibility on these two girls?"

"Certainly not. I told you I'd do anything I could. When Delia came to me begging me to marry her, I simply had to refuse. It would have led to no happiness. It was simply unsound. That wasn't at all the sort of thing we'd decided. It was perfectly understood."

"Wait a minute," said Kendall. "She told you—everything."

"Why, really—"

"She told you. We know that."

"All right. She told me. Go on."

"And you turned her off. You knew she'd need help—a good deal of help."

"You have no right to say I turned her off. I refused to marry her, yes. But I wouldn't have let her suffer. It wasn't a question of money then. It wasn't time for money—nowhere near."

"Just a minute. You were booked to sail for Central America on Saturday—to be gone for one or two years."

"I am attached to the Birmingham Expedition, yes."

"Then how did you figure you were going to help her? You were planning not to be here."

"Bee,"—Arthur turned to her,—"I don't know who this man is, and I hesitate to seem discourteous to you, but I'm beginning to wonder if the situation isn't verging on an attempt at blackmail."

"This man is an old friend of mine, Arthur. He is here at my request. And if you don't stop wasting time and show us a little human decency, just a little, I won't undertake to be responsible for what he may do to you."

"Oh, really, Bee—"

"He's asking for trouble, Bee," said Kendall. "Let's go on with it. I'll give him all he wants.—You realize, Rockwell, that money, some money, is needed at once, and that you've got to produce it. Furthermore, you should realize that if you keep up your present attitude, you're going to need a lot more for legal expenses."

"Are you an officer of the law?"

Kendall stood directly over him looking firmly down into the now glistening and weakening face. "I'll answer that by telling you—and I want you to get this, get it right: I have friends in the District Attorney's office. We know that you gave her the poison—"

"Good God, man, I didn't give it to her to eat!"

"We know all about that. We know where you bought the bottle. You had to sign for it at the druggist's. Don't forget that. We know—"

"But—but—"

"I'm simply warning you, Rockwell. You're a very complacent young man—very self-willed. I won't waste on you now the epithets that come to my mind. I just want to get this clearly into your head; if you don't choose to go through with this marriage tonight, if you're not willing to take full human responsibility for this desperate situation, I'm going to put through one of the dirtiest criminal trials New York has seen since the Thaw case. You wreck that girl's life? All right, I'll wreck yours. Your whole career, mind. I'll crush you as completely as you've crushed her. And I'll smash the happiness of your parents, your whole family, exactly as you're smashing hers. Do you get it? Is it plain?"

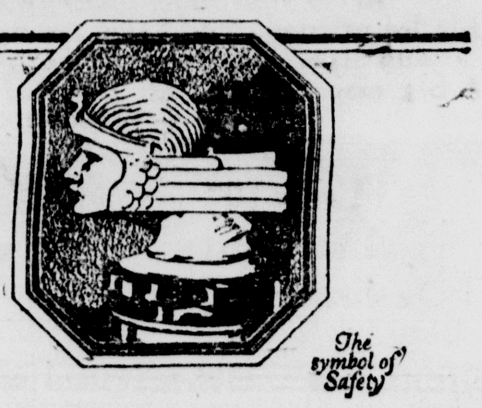
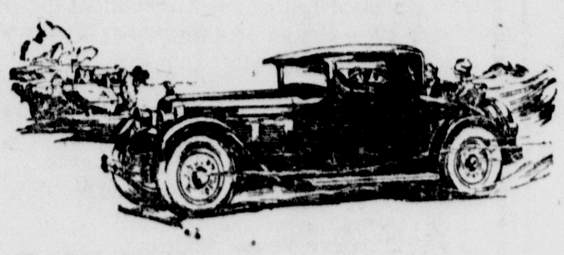
New SAFETY STUTZ

Traffic experts acclaim this adoption of Safety Glass



The symbol of Safety



ALL traffic authorities agree that the general adoption of safety-glass all around as regular equipment, now pioneered by and exclusive to the New Safety Stutz, will result in a great reduction of motoring injuries.

From the very beginning, every New Stutz car has a safety-glass windshield. Then the builders of this surpassingly safe automobile, noting the increasing frequency of newspaper reports chronicling damage from flying glass, decided that the New Safety Stutz should have safety-glass all around.

And so, safety-glass has been put into every window, and window-ventilator, every windshield, and windshield-wing of all New Safety Stutz models.

This voluntary adoption of safety-glass, at no additional expense to the car owner, means that the ultimate step has been taken by the builders of the New Safety Stutz to provide the safest private passenger automobile ever built. And this safety feature is obtainable in no car other than the New Safety Stutz.

The safety-glass feature is naturally pioneered by the designers who were first to radically lower the center of mass weight and so produce an automobile of incomparable stability; who were first to adopt the improved hydrostatic four-wheel brakes developed by Timken; who made their frame the strongest and most rigid built, with integral steel running-boards or "side bumpers"; who brought steel into the construction of their bodies to give maximum strength and narrow, clear-vision front corner-posts.

And the builders of the New Safety Stutz now announce the latest development in the Fedco System of Theft Prevention and Detection. Additional protection is now given each owner, all without cost to him, by indemnity against loss of use resulting from theft, at the rate of five dollars per day, up to thirty days.

New Safety Stutz models with their exclusive features are now on display at our show-rooms. See the New Safety Stutz, ride in it, drive it.

An exclusive feature of the New Safety Stutz is Loss-of-Use Insurance, paying the car owner five dollars per day, up to thirty days, for loss of the car's use through theft. This is without cost to the car owner.

The entire car has Underwriters' Class A rating on both fire and theft.

Eight body styles, including 7-passenger models, designed and constructed under the supervision of Brewster of New York.

All closed bodies automatically ventilated by Hubbard Ventilating Eaves—another exclusive feature.

Eckfeld, Kerr, Wright Winners Here; Brown G. O. P. Choice For Governor

In conformity with conditions general throughout the the state yesterday's primary election here developed one of the lightest votes on record as Wellsville electors turned in pluralities for Thad Brown, gubernatorial candidate; H. M. Carpenter, for state senator; Ralph Emmons, representative; George Wright, sheriff; Fred Eckfeld, treasurer, and John M. Kerr, commissioner on the Republican state; and V. A. Donahey, governor, and Florence Allen, supreme court judge, on the Democratic.

Interest was centered chiefly in the treasurership race in which Eckfeld was pitted against Fred George, of East Liverpool, and C. H. Hoopes, of Kensington, the city biggest vote being cast in this contest. Eckfeld was given a majority of 743 against George's 194 and Hoope's 21. In all, 958 ballots were cast in the treasurer fight

In the gubernatorial races, 754 Republicans voted and 123 Democrats; The sheriff fight brought out 866 and the commissioner race 856.

Kerr outdistanced Sinclair in Wellsville by a vote of 549 to 248, but lost ground in other parts of the county

Probably no more than 25 per cent of the qualified voters of the city exercised their power of franchise at yesterday's vote.

In the Republican governorship race Brown captured all but two precincts of the city's nine, Cooper winning in 2A and 3A. The city totals are: Beam 6, Brown 364 Buchanan 11, Cooper 216, Day 54, Dircks 3, Gibson 9. Shanley 4. Sieber 151, Smith 15, Snow 16, Webster 5.

Mills led the field of 11 candidates in the race for the lieutenant governorship. He polled 291 and his nearest competitor, Galbreath, 134. Other results were: Bracher 12; Burke 86; Cain 8; Davis 37; Emerson 40; Farnsworth 97; McKim 6; Tippett 6; Watkins 20.

Buckley, leading candidate for state treasurer, led the field here with 183; Davis 94; Forney 60; Godfrey 35; Hoover 122; Kellison 16; Nelson 69; Smith 77.

Brown polled 426 for secretary of state; Cross 195, and Hummell 77.

Griswold, with 221, led for attorney general. Boyd was second with 168 and Grills third with 41.

Willis won hands down for United States Senator, polling 501. His rivals failed to reach the 100 mark, other results being: Alcorn 81; Fiorini 4; Hildebrand 76; Latham 20; Price 25; Watson 28.

Supreme court justice results gave Geiger 277; Jones 152; Matthias 207; Washburn 269.

The state central committee vote: George 1799; Richardson 185; Scott 150.

Harry M. Carpenter, of Steubenville, was an easy victor in the fight for state senator. He polled 598 as against 40 for Fretter; 251 for Lewis, 201 for Malin.

Representative Ralph Emmons, of East Rochester, did not have much of a struggle here, leading 558 votes. Cope polled 205; Smith 164; and Van Fossan 267.

Sheriff George Wright, seeking renomination, won over David Eeils by a plurality of 196 votes out of 896 cast. Wright received 531 and Eelis 335. Wright won every precinct except 4-C.

Walker practically doubled the vote on Ferren in the county auditorship contest, polling 464 to the East Palestine man's 238 and winning every precinct.

The commissionership contest developed into a fight here as elsewhere in the county betwween Sinclair and Kerr. The latter polled a 549 total to Sinclair's 248. Kerr enjoyed his biggest plurality in 1-B, where the count was 121 to 54. He took 4-C with an 18-17 count. Van Blaricom polled 10 votes here and Wilkinson 89.

Fred Eckfeld easily outdistanced the field for county treasurer here but Fred George, of East Liverpool, his chief rival, picked up ground and went ahead in East Liverpool and northern county districts. Eckfeld received 743 here and George 194. Hoopes was given 21.

There were 123 Democratic votes cast for governor and Vic Donahey was given 111 of them, J. C. B. Beatty receiving nine, Kauffman one and Sandles two.

Lieutenant governorship totals were Bloom 46; Grall five; Johnston nine; Madden 14; Reynolds 23.

Secretary of State: Bronson nine; Krause 18; Newman 21; Young 43.

Treasurer of state—Deweese 43; Pattison 56.

15 CHICKENS ESCAPE FIRE

For queer twists of fate and oddities of a varied nature, the city's $125,000 fire which destroyed the Riverside hotel, the Paramount Candy company building and damaged two others sets the pace.

First the fact that the municipal fire siren was out of commission on the occasion of the city's most disastrous conflagration in years, then the fact that motor fire truck representatives, here to give a demonstration of a pumper truck were able to give a real show of their wares and now comes the announcement that 15 live chickens were taken out of the cellar of the hotel after the fire had been over for hours and the process of demolishing the walls was under way.

The chickens were in store for restaurant use. They were found huddled together in the coal hole under the sidewalk where they escaped fallen brick and timbers and appeared little the worse for wear.

3 ARE HURT IN BOMB BLAST

Explosive Blows Hole in New Cleveland Building.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—Two girls were cut by flying glass and slight injuries were sustained by the watchman when a bomb blew a hole two foot square in the new building of the Eclipse Electrotype & Engraving company early today. The girls, Evelyn Nobtiz, 4, and Dorothy Nobitz, 15, were sleeping in an adjoining apartment.

Windows were broken in surrounding buildings by the force of the blast.

Police were unable to learn the identity of the bombers but they believe trouble between union and non-union laborers working on the building motivated the act.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Industrial stocks recovered a portion of yesterday's losses in the early trading today as the result of short covering and moderate investment buying. Leaders in the motor, industrial and pool specialty stocks started the session with slight gains over Tuesday's closing range and advanced a point or two in fairly active trading.

Active buying of Ward bread sent that stock up 3 points to 36½, while Industrial Alchohol and International Nickel continued their rallies.

Eckfeld, Kerr, Wright Winners Here; Brown G. O. P. Choice For Governor

In conformity with conditions general throughout the the state yesterday's primary election here developed one of the lightest votes on record as Wellsville electors turned in pluralities for Thad Brown, gubernatorial candidate; H. M. Carpenter, for state senator; Ralph Emmons, representative; George Wright, sheriff; Fred Eckfeld, treasurer, and John M. Kerr, commissioner on the Republican state; and V. A. Donahey, governor, and Florence Allen, supreme court judge, on the Democratic.

Interest was centered chiefly in the treasurership race in which Eckfeld was pitted against Fred George, of East Liverpool, and C. H. Hoopes, of Kensington, the city biggest vote being cast in this contest. Eckfeld was given a majority of 743 against George's 194 and Hoope's 21. In all, 958 ballots were cast in the treasurer fight

In the gubernatorial races, 754 Republicans voted and 123 Democrats; The sheriff fight brought out 866 and the commissioner race 896.

Kerr outdistanced Sinclair in Wellsville by a vote of 549 to 248, but lost ground in other parts of the county

Probably no more than 25 per cent of the qualified voters of the city exercised their power of franchise at yesterday's vote.

In the Republican governorship race Brown captured all but two precincts of the city's nine, Cooper winning in 2A and 3A. The city totals are: Beam 6, Brown 364 Buchanan 11, Cooper 216, Day 54, Dircks 3, Gibson 9, Shanley 4, Sieber 151, Smith 15, Snow 16, Webster 5.

Mills led the field of 11 candidates in the race for the lieutenant governorship. He polled 291 and his nearest competitor, Galbreath, 134. Other results were: Bracher 12; Burke 86; Cain 8; Davis 37; Emerson 40; Farnsworth 97; McKim 6; Tippett 6; Watkins 20.

Buckley, leading candidate for state treasurer, led the field here with 183; Davis 94; Forney 60; Godfrey 35; Hoover 122; Kellison 16; Nelson 69; Smith 77.

Brown polled 426 for secretary of state; Cross 195, and Hummell 77.

Griswold, with 221, led for attorney general. Boyd was second with 168 and Grills third with 41.

Willis won hands down for United States Senator, polling 501. His rivals failed to reach the 100 mark, other results being: Alcorn 81; Fiorini 4; Hildebrand 76; Latham 20; Price 25; Watson 28.

Supreme court justice results gave Geiger 277; Jones 162; Matthias 207; Washburn 269.

The state central committee vote: George 1799; Richardson 185; Scott 150.

Harry M. Carpenter, of Steubenville, was an easy victor in the fight for state senator. He polled 598 as against 40 for Fretter; 251 for Lewis, 201 for Malin.

Representative Ralph Emmons, of East Rochester, did not have much of a struggle here, leading 558 votes. Cope polled 205; Smith 164; and Van Fossan 267.

Sheriff George Wright, seeking renomination, won over David Eells by a plurality of 196 votes out of 896 cast. Wright received 531 and Eells 335. Wright won every precinct except 4-C.

Walker practically doubled the vote on Ferren in the county auditorship contest, polling 464 to the East Palestine man's 238 and winning every precinct.

The commissionership contest developed into a fight here as elsewhere in the county betwween Sinclair and Kerr. The latter polled a 549 total to Sinclair's 248. Kerr enjoyed his biggest plurality in 1-B, where the count was 121 to 54. He took 4-C with an 18-17 count. Van Blaricom polled 10 votes here and Wilkinson 89.

Fred Eckfeld easily outdistanced the field for county treasurer here but Fred George, of East Liverpool, his chief rival, picked up ground and went ahead in East Liverpool and northern county districts. Eckfeld received 743 here and George 194. Hoopes was given 21.

There were 123 Democratic votes cast for governor and Vic Donahey was given 111 of them, J. C. B. Beatty receiving nine, Kauffman one and Sandles two.

Lieutenant governorship totals were Bloom 46; Grall five; Johnston nine; Madden 14; Reynolds 23.

Secretary of State: Bronson nine; Krause 18; Newman 21; Young 43.

15 CHICKENS ESCAPE FIRE

For queer twists of fate and oddities of a varied nature, the city's $125,000 fire which destroyed the Riverside hotel, the Paramount Candy company building and damaged two others sets the pace.

First the fact that the municipal fire siren was out of commission on the occasion of the city's most disastrous conflagration in years, then the fact that motor fire truck representatives, here to give a demonstration of a pumper truck were able to give a real show of their wares and now comes the announcement that 15 live chickens were taken out of the cellar of the hotel after the fire had been over for hours and the process of demolishing the walls was under way.

The chickens were in store for restaurant use. They were found huddled together in the coal hole under the sidewalk where they escaped fallen brick and timbers and appeared little the worse for wear.

3 ARE HURT IN BOMB BLAST

Explosive Blows Hole in New Cleveland Building.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—Two girls were cut by flying glass and slight injuries were sustained by the watchman when a bomb blew a hole two foot square in the new building of the Eclipse Electrotype & Engraving company early today. The girls, Evelyn Nobtiz, 4, and Dorothy Nobitz, 15, were sleeping in an adjoining apartment.

Windows were broken in surrounding buildings by the force of the blast.

Police were unable to learn the identity of the bombers but they believe trouble between union and nonunion laborers working on the building motivated the act.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Industrial stocks recovered a portion of yesterday's losses in the early trading today as the result of short covering and moderate investment buying. Active buying of Ward bread sent that stock up 3 points to 36⅛, while Industrial Alchohol and International Nickel continued their rallies.

Little Interest In Tuesday's Primaries

Indicative of the absence of interest on the part of the Ohio electorate in yesterday's primaries, as a result of which Myers Y. Cooper is the prospective Republican gubernatorial nominee, and Gov. A. V. Donahey was renominated by the Democrats for a third term race, was the small vote in East Liverpool and other subwivisions of Colmbiana county.

Despite other contests, especially the race between Supreme Court Judge Florence Allen and Atlee Pomerene for the United States senatorship on the Democratic ticket, which the ex-senator appears to have won; the Republican candidacy of Senator Frank B. Willis, always a vote getter, and an easy winner yesterday, and fights for county offices and the three legislative places, the balloting was far below predictions.

Not more than 25 per cent of the normal voting strength was polled here, while less than 33 1-3 per cent of the qualified electors in other parts of the county went to the polls.

The official canvass, election board officials predicted today, will show not more than 2,200 of East Liverpool's 8,000 or more voters exercised the suffrage right. It is a safe wager that less than 10,000 of the 22,000 electors in the remaining 84 precincts of the county showed any outward evidence of a desire for a voice in selecting party nominees for the November election.

There is only one answer to this situation—general apathy on the part of the electorate. And it is another argument in favor of a change in the present primary system in Ohio, as proposed in an amendment to be submitted to the voters next fall.

Peace Day

Armistice Day is still a long way off, yet in one cosmopolitan American community plans are being made for it already.

The celebration will be truly cosmopolitan. Fifty nationalities are expected to take part in it. Representing their own community, they will represent virtually the whole world.

Here is an example worthy to be followed widely. There are few American cities or towns that could not muster citizens representing a dozen nationalities or more— by birth or origin. Almost any community will be surprised at the racial variety of its citizenship, when the quest is once begun. Ordinarily, in American life, we very properly ignore such differences, but in connection with Armistice Day there is a peculiar fitness in recalling them.

The World war involved nearly all the important nations, arrayed against each other. Then came the Armistice with its promise of world peace. That peace is not yet realized, but we draw nearer to it with every adequate celebration of Armistice Day, when all the belligerent nationalities can meet with a common hope in their hearts.

Let 'Em Stay Away

An unnamed correspondent, writing in the conservative Kreuz Zeitung of Berlin, advises German tourists to stay away from the United States.

"America," he explains, "has nothing to offer cultured Europeans. Scratch an American and you are sure to find he is nothing more than a piece of machinery."

Which seems to be another verification of the oft-repeated assertion that "machinery won the war."

Anyway, it doesn't matter much. If "cultured Europeans" want to remain away from our vulgar and contaminating shores, that's all right with us. Especially if they make sure to include lecturers and borrowers.

The fact is that America is not falling over itself to bring any kind of Europeans here just now.

It might be a good thing if there were less travel in both directions until present passions and grievances had a chance to subside. Eventually, as absence made the heart grow fonder, each continent might come to appreciate the virtues of the other and talk less of the other's faults.

Another Wal To Live Long

Here is another gem of wisdom from a venerable gentleman who has attained distinction by the simple but difficult process of continuing to live. Michael Fallon, aged 90, of Paterson, N. J. asked for an explanation of his longevity, explains that he has survived by always doing what he pleased. That includes chewing tobacco since he was 16.

They live longest, he thinks, who do what they like, eat what they like and drink what they like.

Other venerable gentlemen give a precisely opposite explanation, and find medical support for it. And as a matter of common observation, there are plenty of men dying now every day from doing exactly what Mr. Fallon recommends.

Still, it's a complex problem, and you can't tell. We get far more babies past their infancy now, but let most of them succumb to the diseases of middle age. Our "expectation of life" has increased, yet the secret of old age remains a mystery. The theory of an unusual endowment of vitality seems pretty reasonable; yet often we find men and women who were puny and sickly in their youth outliving those born far stronger.

"Vancouver," says a random news item, "is to have a million-dollar theater." Whereupon a million New Yorkers sit up and inquire, "Now, where is Vancouver?"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Living not many miles from New York is a famous coquette of yesteryear. Her home is a palace stuffed with art treasures. If it were not for her silver white hair she might be taken for a woman in the early forties. She is near 60.

Her mind is clouded. She has toyed with the emotions of many gallants in various parts of the world and from these experiences has not only gathered a generous fortune but a superior and cosmopolitan manner unchanged by her infirmity.

Friends of other days overlook her vagaries, which often take a quick and embarrassing turn. In the middle of a dinner party she has suddenly ordered all from the table and the house. She has only a single obsession, and that is she may be poisoned. The following day she will bombard them with telegrams and letters making profuse apologies for her actions. And perhaps they will solemnly return the following week to have the experience repeated. Then there are times when she holds them spellbound by brilliant conversation.

Her home is decorated and furnished in rococo style. There are stuffed animals—trophies of African hunts—with electrically lighted eyes. A library whose shelves are filled with toxicological tomes and the histories of famous poisonings.

One room in the house she permits no one to enter. It is heavily barred and locked and when her fear is greatest she goes there and prepares her own meals and eats in solitude. And when pierced by shafts of reason she laughs at her fears to her friends.

Despite the fact she has angled and netted the markets of the world for rare jewels, she has a necklace which is her particular delight. On festive occasions she wears it. By pressing a tiny switch it leaps into a dazzling glitter, being composed of a chain of tiny electrical bulbs.

The glamour of rare jewels—I seem to lean toward jewels this week—offers the most fascinating of all human observations. It has furnished the theme for the best in fiction, ruined empires and led hundreds to death. Some of the greatest sacrifices in all history have been made by men seeking to salvage hidden fire from dull earth. In many countries in Europe jewels are believed to have caused more moral wreckage than drink.

A jeweler once told me that any ordinary minerals could be made rare jewels if controlled by a syndicate and pronounced scarce.

In like fashion famous wits are made. Some of the dullest men in the world have reputations as humorists. A report is circulated they are funny. An inane remark becomes a sparkling epigram. And before they know it they are famous wits. Also many real wits were funny until people began telling them so.

One of the sweatered "dese, dem and dose" boys of the Bowery environs drifted into a Broadway restaurant the other day at noon time. He sat at the table with his cap pulled rakishly over one eye.

"It is customary for gentlemen to remove their hats," said the floor manager.

"A dump for swells, eh?" inquired the patron. "The nex' ting you guys know you'll ask us to go outside to 'dunk' bread in the cawfee."

On the bulletin board of a Sixth Avenue employment agency the other morning was this sign: "Wanted—Young man to fill ink wells in mail order house. Part time and rubber gloves furnished." There's a new occupation. An ink well filler!

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Interesting Panama Natives.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11. — A complete study of the history and cultural records of the peoples of Panama, the cross roads of the new world, has been compiled by the scientists of the Smithsonian Institution and the National Museum at Washington, and is being published by the Government Printing Office. Herbert W. Krieger, Curator of the Division of Ethnology of the National Museum, is the compiler of the work, which has for its basis both the written history of the people and the unwritten facts derived from the materials collected by scientific expeditions into the native regions south and east of the Canal Zone.

Somewhat as Suez was a separating line between the early civilizations of Africa and Asia, notably those of Egypt and of Syria, so the Isthmus of Panama lay between the highest early cultures of North and South America, those of Mexico and Peru. While the development of the peoples north and south was thus far advanced, the traces of early life on the Isthmus of Panama show no culture nearly so well developed. The derivation of the tribal life on the isthmus was undoubtedly from South America rather than from the north, according to the facts assembled by Mr. Krieger, but it was probably from the tribes lying southeastward in what are now Colombia and Venezuela, rather than from those southward in the Andes.

Since the coming of the first Spaniards, life on the isthmus has become a varied thing, and the so-called native population of today is greatly admixed with early negro blood from imported slaves, with a touch of white blood and even a little of the oriental. But in southeastern Panama, or Darien, the section on the South American side of the Canal, the native tribes have in some areas kept aloof from all foreign elements, and retain much of their earlier manner of life. On the North American side of the Canal, the natives are practically the same as those of Costa Rica, and their history and ethnology have been more fully studied.

Much of the accumulated knowledge of the Indians of the Isthmus east of the Canal was gathered in 1924 by the Marsh-Darien Expedition, under Richard Aglesby Marsh, whose collections were given to the National Museum. Earlier collectors had contributed a variety of material and of historical data, and from the whole of available sources the present exhibits at the Museum have been secured, and the new volume on the material culture of this land has been compiled.

Three Principal Tribes.

It is the record of three principal tribes, the Chocos of the Pacific Slope, the Cunas of the mountains, and the Tules of the Caribbean Coast. The Cuna and Tule races were of the same stock, and their differences are those of more recent environment. The Choco culture on the other hand displays marked divergences. Best known of all these Indians today are the San Blas Islands tribe of the Caribbean. They are of the Tule race, and their isolation on this chain of islands has made them in late years an object of considerable curiosity and numerous visits by scientists and writers. Their history is part of that of all the Tule tribes, and dates back to before Columbus. That explorer was their first white visitor, on his last voyage founding a settlement on their coast.

This and other early Spanish settlements did not last long. The Spaniards undertook to enslave the natives and make them work the gold mines. Against this rule the tribes rebelled, and finally expelled the white men. A few buccaneers later settled among them, but did not stay long. Since then they have maintained their region exclusively for themselves, and they retain to this day a great pride of race which makes them less prone to intermarry with other races or tribes than almost any group of Indians.

Balboa was governor of a colony among these people when he first scaled the mountains of the Isthmus and gazed upon the Pacific, so that the discoverers both of the New World and of the Pacific Ocean made efforts to settle and maintain white men among these tribes, but without success. Early in the sixteenth century the Spaniards were driven westward and founded Panama City, and thereafter the "gold road" across the Isthmus traversed the region where the canal now cuts through the land. The Conquistadores passed that way for the future, and the land of Darien was left to the native tribes.

While not so advanced in building arts or handicraft as the Aztecs, these peoples of the Isthmus had a fairly advanced culture many hundred years ago. They mined gold and silver and made ornaments thereof, they raised agricultural products, they built villages and canoes, and they had a strong tribal society. It is interesting to note that each village was a law unto itself and there was no general government or government chief, yet they apparently never quarrelled among themselves.

Were Brave Warriors.

A foreign invader, however, found them resolute and warlike. Balboa recorded that he had slain thirty

In certain parts of the South everybody eats dinner at midday and then takes a nap. Business is practically suspended for a couple of hours. Especially is this true of the summer season.

A Northern traveling man in a small town not far from where I was born and reared needed a lead pencil. Nobody around the little hotel seemed to have one to spare. The time was just after midday and the weather was sultry. He walked down the deserted main street until he came to a general store. A gentleman in his shirt-sleeves, evidently the proprietor, was titled back in a chair against the front door, taking a nap.

The stranger shook him by the shoulder, at first gently, then forcibly. The sleeper broke a snore short off and opened one heavy eye.

"Well?" he said, drowsily.

"I want to buy a lead pencil," said the traveling man, "a good five cent lead pencil."

"Got no lead pencils," murmured the proprietor thickly, as his eyes closed again.

"Why, I can see a whole showcase full of them right behind you," protested the traveler.

The proprietor started to rise. Then inspiration came to him.

"Oh, them?" he said, brightly. "Them ain't for sale!" and went right back to sleep.

TROUBLED FOR YEARS WITH INDIGESTION

Mr. Allan Small, of Brooklyn, N Y., writes:

"I have always lived in fear of heart trouble—my father, as well as my mother's sister, died from this dreaded affliction when I was a child. As it was on both sides of my family and I had often heard it was hereditary, I lived in dread and fear

"As I have had at intervals severe abdominal pains, heart-burn and pressure on the heart, I felt there was no relief so I became reconciled to the horrible truth I was doomed, nothing could be done and must await my time to go as my father and mother's sister I never dreamed I might only have intestinal indigestion, and my trouble was sour and acid stomach, causing gas pressure on the heart. EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 11, 1926.

Little Interest In Tuesday's Primaries

Indicative of the absence of interest on the part of the Ohio electorate in yesterday's primaries, as a result of which Myers Y. Cooper is the prospective Republican gubernatorial nominee, and Gov. A. V. Donahey was renominated by the Democrats for a third term race, was the small vote in East Liverpool and other subwivisions of Colmbiana county.

Despite other contests, especially the race between Supreme Court Judge Florence Allen and Atlee Pomerene for the United States senatorship on the Democratic ticket, which the ex-senator appears to have won; the Republican candidacy of Senator Frank B. Willis, always a vote getter, and an easy winner yesterday, and fights for county offices and the three legislative places, the balloting was far below predictions.

Not more than 25 per cent of the normal voting strength was polled here, while less than 33 1-3 per cent of the qualified electors in other parts of the county went to the polls.

The official canvass, election board officials predicted today, will show not more than 2,200 of East Liverpool's 8,000 or more voters exercised the suffrage right. It is a safe wager that less than 10,000 of the 22,000 electors in the remaining 84 precincts of the county showed any outward evidence of a desire for a voice in selecting party nominees for the November election.

There is only one answer to this situation—general apathy on the part of the electorate. And it is another argument in favor of a change in the present primary system in Ohio, as proposed in an amendment to be submitted to the voters next fall.

Peace Day

Armistice Day is still a long way off, yet in one cosmopolitan American community plans are being made for it already.

The celebration will be truly cosmopolitan. Fifty nationalities are expected to take part in it. Representing their own community, they will represent virtually the whole world.

Here is an example worthy to be followed widely. There are few American cities or towns that could not muster citizens representing a dozen nationalities or more— by birth or origin. Almost any community will be surprised at the racial variety of its citizenship, when the quest is once begun. Ordinarily, in American life, we very properly ignore such differences, but in connection with Armistice Day there is a peculiar fitness in recalling them.

The World war involved nearly all the important nations, arrayed against each other. Then came the Armistice with its promise of world peace. That peace is not yet realized, but we draw nearer to it with every adequate celebration of Armistice Day, when all the belligerent nationalities can meet with a common hope in their hearts.

Let 'Em Stay Away

An unnamed correspondent, writing in the conservative Kreuz Zeitung of Berlin, advises German tourists to stay away from the United States.

"America," he explains, "has nothing to offer cultured Europeans. Scratch an American and you are sure to find he is nothing more than a piece of machinery."

Which seems to be another verification of the oft-repeated assertion that "machinery won the war."

Anyway, it doesn't matter much. If "cultured Europeans" want to remain away from our vulgar and contaminating shores, that's all right with us. Especially if they make sure to include lecturers and borrowers.

The fact is that America is not falling over itself to bring any kind of Europeans here just now.

It might be a good thing if there were less travel in both directions until present passions and grievances had a chance to subside. Eventually, as absence made the heart grow fonder, each continent might come to appreciate the virtues of the other and talk less of the other's faults.

Another Wal To Live Long

Here is another gem of wisdom from a venerable gentleman who has attained distinction by the simple but difficult process of continuing to live. Michael Fallon, aged 90, of Paterson, N. J. asked for an explanation of his longevity, explains that he has survived by always doing what he pleased. That includes chewing tobacco since he was 16.

They live longest, he thinks, who do what they like, eat what they like and drink what they like.

Other venerable gentlemen give a precisely opposite explanation, and find medical support for it. And as a matter of common observation, there are plenty of men dying now every day from doing exactly what Mr. Fallon recommends.

Still, it's a complex problem, and you can't tell. We get far more babies past their infancy now, but let most of them succumb to the diseases of middle age. Our "expectation of life" has increased, yet the secret of old age remains a mystery. The theory of an unusual endowment of vitality seems pretty reasonable; yet often we find men and women who were puny and sickly in their youth outliving those born far stronger.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Living not many miles from New York is a famous coquette of yesteryear. Her home is a palace stuffed with art treasures. If it were not for her silver white hair she might be taken for a woman in the early forties. She is near 60.

Her mind is clouded. She has toyed with the emotions of many gallants in various parts of the world and from these experiences has not only gathered a generous fortune but a superior and cosmopolitan manner unchanged by her infirmity.

Friends of other days overlook her vagaries, which often take a quick and embarrassing turn. In the middle of a dinner party she has suddenly ordered all from the table and the house. She has only a single obsession, and that is she may be poisoned. The following day she will bombard them with telegrams and letters making profuse apologies for her actions. And perhaps they will solemnly return the following week to have the experience repeated. Then there are times when she holds them spellbound by brilliant conversation.

Her home is decorated and furnished in rococo style. There are stuffed animals—trophies of African hunts—with electrically lighted eyes. A library whose shelves are filled with toxicological tomes and the histories of famous poisonings.

One room in the house she permits no one to enter. It is heavily barred and locked and when her fear is greatest she goes there and prepares her own meals and eats in solitude. And when pierced by shafts of reason she laughs at her fears to her friends.

Despite the fact she has angled and netted the markets of the world for rare jewels, she has a necklace which is her particular delight. On festive occasions she wears it. By pressing a tiny switch it leaps into a dazzling glitter, being composed of a chain of tiny electrical bulbs.

The glamour of rare jewels—I seem to lean toward jewels this week—offers the most fascinating of all human observations. It has furnished the theme for the best in fiction, ruined empires and led hundreds to death. Some of the greatest sacrifices in all history have been made by men seeking to salvage hidden fire from dull earth. In many countries in Europe jewels are believed to have caused more moral wreckage than drink.

A jeweler once told me that any ordinary minerals could be made rare jewels if controlled by a syndicate and pronounced scarce.

In like fashion famous wits are made. Some of the dullest men in the world have reputations as humorists. A report is circulated they are funny. An inane remark becomes a sparkling epigram. And before they know it they are famous wits. Also many real wits were funny until people began telling them so.

One of the sweatered "dese, dem and dose" boys of the Bowery environs drifted into a Broadway restaurant the other day at noon time. He sat at the table with his cap pulled rakishly over one eye.

"It is customary for gentlemen to remove their hats," said the floor manager.

"A dump for swells, eh?" inquired the patron. "The nex' ting you guys know you'll ask us to go outside to 'dunk' bread in the cawfee."

On the bulletin board of a Sixth Avenue employment agency the other morning was this sign: "Wanted—Young man to fill ink wells in mail order house. Part time and rubber gloves furnished." There's a new occupation. An ink well filler!

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Interesting Panama Natives.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11. — A complete study of the history and cultural records of the peoples of Panama, the cross roads of the new world, has been compiled by the scientists of the Smithsonian Institution and the National Museum at Washington, and is being published by the Government Printing Office. Herbert W. Krieger, Curator of the Division of Ethnology of the National Museum, is the compiler of the work, which has for its basis both the written history of the people and the unwritten facts derived from the materials collected by scientific expeditions into the native regions south and east of the Canal Zone.

Somewhat as Suez was a separating line between the early civilizations of Africa and Asia, notably those of Egypt and of Syria, so the Isthmus of Panama lay between the highest early cultures of North and South America, those of Mexico and Peru. While the development of the peoples north and south was thus far advanced, the traces of early life on the Isthmus of Panama show no culture nearly so well developed. The derivation of the tribal life on the isthmus was undoubtedly from South America rather than from the north, according to the facts assembled by Mr. Krieger, but it was probably from the tribes lying southeastward in what are now Colombia and Venezuela, rather than from those southward in the Andes.

Since the coming of the first Spaniards, life on the isthmus has become a varied thing, and the so-called native population of today is greatly admixed with early negro blood from imported slaves, with a touch of white blood and even a little of the oriental. But in southeastern Panama, or Darien, the section on the South American side of the Canal, the native tribes have in some areas kept aloof from all foreign elements, and retain much of their earlier manner of life. On the North American side of the Canal, the natives are practically the same as those of Costa Rica, and their history and ethnology have been more fully studied.

Much of the accumulated knowledge of the Indians of the Isthmus east of the Canal was gathered in 1924 by the Marsh-Darien Expedition, under Richard Aglesby Marsh, whose collections were given to the National Museum. Earlier collectors had contributed a variety of material and of historical data, and from the whole of available sources the present exhibits at the Museum have been secured, and the new volume on the material culture of this land has been compiled.

Three Principal Tribes.

It is the record of three principal tribes, the Chocos of the Pacific Slope, the Cunas of the mountains, and the Tules of the Caribbean Coast. The Cuna and Tule races were of the same stock, and their differences are those of more recent environment. The Choco culture on the other hand displays marked divergences. Best known of all these Indians today are the San Blas Islands tribe of the Caribbean. They are of the Tule race, and their isolation on this chain of islands has made them in late years an object of considerable curiosity and numerous visits by scientists and writers. Their history is part of that of all the Tule tribes, and dates back to before Columbus. That explorer was their first white visitor, on his last voyage founding a settlement on their coast.

This and other early Spanish settlements did not last long. The Spaniards undertook to enslave the natives and make them work the gold mines. Against this rule the tribes rebelled, and finally expelled the white men. A few buccaneers later settled among them, but did not stay long. Since then they have maintained their region exclusively for themselves, and they retain to this day a great pride of race which makes them less prone to intermarry with other races or tribes than almost any group of Indians.

Balboa was governor of a colony among these people when he first scaled the mountains of the Isthmus and gazed upon the Pacific, so that the discoverers both of the New World and of the Pacific Ocean made efforts to settle and maintain white men among these tribes, but without success. DRY OFFICERS BADLY BURNED

Touch Match to Still Seized in Raid Near Weirton.

Thomas Harmon, state policeman, and Dale Long, special prohibition commissioner assigned to Weirton territory last week, were burned about the face, hands and body as a result of an explosion which occurred last night on a farm near Weirton when the officers touched a match to a still and a quantity of liquor they had captured earlier in the evening.

Both were given first aid treatment in the emergency hospital at Weirton police headquarters after which they were taken to their homes.

Th accident occurred after the two officers, together with D. E. Crosten, deputy prohibition commissioner stationed here, and two deputy sheriffs, had uncovered a well camouflaged still secreted in a small room in a hollow and covered with shrubbery and leaves. The explosion occurred when a match was applied to the still and mash barrels after gasoline, oil and whisky had been poured over the pile. Long was hurled through the door of the room and Harmon was trapped inside when the door closed. Although badly burned the state policeman crawled through a window in the shanty before he collapsed.

A man giving his name as Frank Karver was placed under arrest and is being held here pending a hearing tomorrow.

Late yesterday afternoon the same officers captured a still on the Sanders farm. A 58 gallon still was destroyed, as were 50 barrels of mash and a large quantity of liquor.

The raids climaxed a strenuous week of activity on the part of prohibition officers. During the last seven days seven large stills have been captured.

COUNCIL HOLDS SPECIAL MEET

Proposed Improvement of Carolina Avenue is Deferred.

Proposed improvement of Carolina avenue which was authorized at the last meeting of council will be deferred as a result of action taken last night at a special meeting of the solons held in the municipal building.

Decision was reached when it was ascertained that the city might obtain state aid to carry out the work. Voters will not be called upon to vote on a bond issue as was previously planned at the November election.

The matter will be taken up at the meeting of the legislature in January when it is confidently predicted state aid will be forthcoming.

Tax levy for the year was fixed at 50 cents for municipal purposes and five cents for outstanding bonds.

BIG REDUCTIONS IN TAX LEVIES

Members of the county court met yesterday at New Cumberland and fixed the annual tax levy with a reduction in the three districts over that of last year.

Grant district was reduced from 93 cents to 83 cents; Butler from 80 to 73, while Clay was given a reduction from 99 to 95.

VILMA BANKY AT AMERICAN

Beautiful Hungarian Actress in "The Dark Angel."

Few artists from abroad assimilate American customs and usages as rapidly as has Vilma Banky, the exotic Hungarian beauty recently discovered in Budapest by Samuel Goldwyn. And now, according to observers, Vilma has as quickly accomplished the finesse and technique of the American actress.

In Europe, where Miss Banky served her apprenticeship at motion picture work, apparently pictures carry only a certain provincial appeal, catering to the tastes and entertainment of only certain classes of certain nationalities.

It was along these lines that Vilma was coached and trained prior to her fateful meeting with Goldwyn, who recognized her latent genius and bestowed upon her a long-term contract before he had ever seen her upon the screen.

Since her arrival in Hollywood but a few months ago, she has completed but one motion picture—George Fitzmaurice's production of "The Dark Angel," which is booked as a First National offering at the American theatre, beginning Thursday. Yet, with her high degree of intelligence, according to Fitzmaurice, she easily cast off the mannerism and oddities of technique acquired abroad, devoting herself studiously to the Americanization of her work, with astonishing success.

"She combines," says Fitzmaurice, "that indefinable something which apparently is the birthright of the European actress—that intuitive grace and gift of self-repression which stamp indelibly the born artiste—with the less subtle, but more effective method of expression which marks the interpretations of the American player. The combination is irresistible."

"The Dark Angel," which gives American audiences their first glimpse of Miss Banky, is an adaptation from the stage play of the same title.

In the South Manchuria Railway zone, with a population of 290,000, the number of radio sets has increased from ten last November to only about seventy today.

After Daniel Reirdon, aged five, of Battersea, caught his head in a decorative hole of the balustrade of Westminster Bridge, London recently, two fire engines, an ambulance, a police tender, three doctors, boatmen and workmen with hacksaws were called to rescue him.

Cheikh Youssef, whose voice is said to closely resemble that of the late Caruso and who is called the Caruso of Egypt, recently sang for the phonograph, an expedition going from London especially to record the sheik's tones.

VILMA BANKY AT AMERICAN

Beautiful Hungarian Actress in "The Dark Angel."

Few artists from abroad assimilate American customs and usages as rapidly as has Vilma Banky, the exotic Hungarian beauty recently discovered in Budapest by Samuel Goldwyn. And now, according to observers, Vilma has as quickly accomplished the finesse and technique of the American actress.

In Europe, where Miss Banky served her apprenticeship at motion picture work, apparently pictures carry only a certain provincial appeal, catering to the tastes and entertainment of only certain classes of certain nationalities.

It was along these lines that Vilma was coached and trained prior to her fateful meeting with Goldwyn, who recognized her latent genius and bestowed upon her a long-term contract before he had ever seen her upon the screen.

Since her arrival in Hollywood but a few months ago, she has completed but one motion picture—George Fitzmaurice's production of "The Dark Angel," which is booked as a First National offering at the American theatre, beginning Thursday. Yet, with her high degree of intelligence, according to Fitzmaurice, she easily cast off the mannerism and oddities of technique acquired abroad, devoting herself studiously to the Americanization of her work, with astonishing success.

"She combines," says Fitzmaurice, "that indefinable something which apparently is the birthright of the European actress—that intuitive grace and gift of self-repression which stamp indelibly the born artiste—with the less subtle, but more effective method of expression which marks the interpretations of the American player. The combination is irresistible."

"The Dark Angel," which gives American audiences their first glimpse of Miss Banky, is an adaptation from the stage play of the same title.

After Daniel Reirdon, aged five, of Battersea, caught his head in a decorative hole of the balustrade of Westminster Bridge, London recently, two fire engines, an ambulance, a police tender, three doctors, boatmen and workmen with hacksaws were called to rescue him.

Cheikh Youssef, whose voice is said to closely resemble that of the late Caruso and who is called the Caruso of Egypt, recently sang for the phonograph, an expedition going from London especially to record the sheik's tones.

REPORT FILED ON WATER TEST

Public Square Well is Condemned by State Board.

The division of laboratories of the department of health of the state of Ohio has pronounced water taken from the well in the Lisbon public square as unsatisfactory for public use, according to a report of an analysis just completed and filed with County Health Commissioner Dr. T. Church.

The report of the analysis shows colon bacilli 1cc 0 negative and 2 positive; colon bacilli in 10cc, 0 negative 2 positive. Laboratory conclusion, "unsatisfactory."

Recently Dr. Church called attention of the village council of Lisbon about the condition of the well, and then suggested that the handled drinking cup now in use be supplanted by the village installing a sanitary drinking fountain.

Fred Berry, chief of the division of laboratories, signed the report that was received by Dr. Church.

6,500 New Mortgages Filed Since September In Recorder's Office

'Money appears to be much easier, and the buying of merchandise on the installment plan appears to be on the increase," declared County Recorder Paul Smith.

The record of this office shows that since Mr. Smith took charge Sept. 1st last more than 6,500 chattel mortgages have been filed for record, and it is believed that during the fiscal year of this office at least 7,000 such mortgages will have been made a matter of record.

"Ninety percent of the chattle mortgages being filed have to do with the sale of automobiles," Mr. Smith said. "The balance is divided between pianos, talking machines, radios and furniture," he said.

Cancellation of chattel mortgages is also declared by Mr. Smith to be very active, and this shows, it is pointed out that many, obligations are being paid off in full.

"There are many old chattel mortgages on file that we know should be cancelled, some three and four years old," Mr. Smith said. "We have notified the largest holders to review their records and notify us what mortgages should be cancelled, as we are sorely in need of room for filing new mortgages."

DIVORCE SUIT IS DISMISSED

"It appearing that the parties have agreed upon an amicable settlement, this case is dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff," reads the entry made by Judge W. H. Spence in the divorce action pending in common pleas court, wherein a decree was sought by Josephine Shaw against her husband, Harry Shaw.

This case was filed July 29th last, and at that time a restraining order was issued against Shaw by the court, preventing him from in any way disposing or encumbering his property. There was a brief trial to the court when the case was called, and then the court made the entry which indicates the action has been suspended.

It is no longer necessary to drain crankcase oil every 500 miles. Four changes of oil a year are enough, when you own a 1927 Buick.

The crankcase in the 1927 Buick is vacuum cleaned! A vital new improvement—the Vacuum Ventilator—draws all crankcase vapors out into the open before they have an opportunity to do harm.

Now, all that is necessary is to add oil occasionally, and then change it 4 times a year, simply as a supercaution.

DIVORCE SUIT IS DISMISSED

"It appearing that the parties have agreed upon an amicable settlement, this case is dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff," reads the entry made by Judge W. H. Spence in the divorce action pending in common pleas court, wherein a decree was sought by Josephine Shaw against her husband, Harry Shaw.

This case was filed July 29th last, and at that time a restraining order was issued against Shaw by the court, preventing him from in any way disposing or encumbering his property. There was a brief trial to the court when the case was called, and then the court made the entry which indicates the action has been suspended.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT
BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

It is no longer necessary to drain crankcase oil every 500 miles. Four changes of oil a year are enough, when you own a 1927 Buick.

The crankcase in the 1927 Buick is vacuum cleaned! A vital new improvement—the Vacuum Ventilator—draws all crankcase vapors out into the open before they have an opportunity to do harm.

Now, all that is necessary is to add oil occasionally, and then change it 4 times a year, simply as a supercaution.

Dircks, Defeated For Governor, Will Try Again in 1928

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 11.—Commenting today on the poor showing he made in yesterday's primary, Charles J. Dircks, one of the eleven defeated candidates for the Republican nomination for governor said that if he lived he would "try again" two years hence.

"I have already started my campaign," Dircks declared. "I'd have got a lot more votes if I'd been better acquainted."

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of our dear mother, Elva N. McCoy, whom God called home just one year ago today, August 11, 1925, so sadly missed by Freddie and Verla.

How sweet and dear the name—
Mother;
One who answered life's highest call,
Who so faithfully and sincerely
Gave her life to mother us all.

A life so faithful and so humble,
One of meekness to the end;
In whose life the Christ-like spirit
Seemed to linger and descend.

She had lived the life God gave her,
When just one year ago today,
The gates of heaven swung wide open
And her soul was born away.

From our midst the angels gently
Carried her, on wings of love,
To a higher and better calling
In her heavenly home above.
FREDDIE AND VERLA McCOY.

Cooper and Donahey

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 11. — Myers Cooper carried Cuyahoga county by more than 5,000 votes over Thad Brown, complete unofficial returns of the county indicated today. These gave Cooper 19,529 to Brown's 14,196.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 11.—Complete official figures for Lucas county in Tuesday's election today gave Thad Brown, Republican, 7,771 votes and his opponent for the gubernatorial nomination, Myers Cooper, 2,120. Seiber received 1,476. W. W. Farnsworth got 10,744 for the Republican lieutenant-governorship against 843 for Davis. On the Democratic ticket Governor Vic Donahey got 4,223 votes to Beatty's 276. Brown Counts Returns.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—Thad Brown, present secretary of state and who was a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, today declined to concede his defeat by Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, who was leading him at noon by a wide margin.

Meanwhile Brown was superintending the counting and tabulating of returns from yesterday's primary.

Cooper is Grateful.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 11.—"I am very grateful to the electors of Ohio, and especially to those of Hamilton county who have so loyally supported me in the primary," declared Myers Y. Cooper, Hamilton county's aspirant to the governorship, today.

"I expect to immediately begin a vigorous campaign to bring the Republican party to victory in the November election," he concluded.

Home Town Appreciates Cooper.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 11.—The old saying that a man never is appreciated in "his own home town" failed to hold good when Republican citizens of Cincinnati and Hamilton county went to the polls yesterday to choose a candidate for the governorship of Ohio.

As a result, Myers Y. Cooper, the Hamilton county offering in that race, was leagues ahead of contenders in the county returns today.

Cooper was credited with 31,684 votes when the returns of 634 of the county's 638 precincts had been counted. His nearest contender was Harry S. Day, who had 16,843 votes chalked up for him.

Donahey carried the Democratic ticket with an overwhelming majority.

Dircks, Defeated For Governor, Will Try Again in 1928

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 11.—Commenting today on the poor showing he made in yesterday's primary, Charles J. Dircks, one of the eleven defeated candidates for the Republican nomination for governor said that if he lived he would "try again" two years hence.

"I have already started my campaign," Dircks declared. "I'd have got a lot more votes if I'd been better acquainted."

Emmons, Van Fossan

vote from 66 polling places was: Walker, 3,521; Ferren, 1,749.

Sinclair, Hanoverton, who has a lead of more than 200 over the runner-up, John McBane Kerr, Yellow Creek township. The precincts, which are yet to report, are believed to be favorable to Sinclair. Kerr carried East Liverpool and Wellsville, while Sinclair set pace in the western part of the county., The vote stands: Sinclair, 1,866; Kerr, 1,630; Thomas Wilkinson, East Liverpool, 972 and S. L. The vote, with about three fifths of the county tabulated is: George, 2,849; Eckfeld, 1,673; Hoopes 997.

Sixty-four of the county's precincts gave Thad Brown, Columbus, the advantage for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, he having a lead of about 500 over Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati. Brown's majority is expected to be increased to about 800 or 1,000 when the final returns are tabulated. Joseph Seiber, Akron, was running third.

Other state candidates favored by Columbiana county voters were: Cross, for secretary of state; H. H. Griswold, for attorney general; Geiger and Washburn, for supreme court judge. Frank Willis had easy sailing in the race for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Beatty Second in County.

Governor A. V. Donahey led J. C. B. Beatty, East Liverpool pottery jobber, for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination with A. P. Sandles, Ottawa, running third and J. H. Kauffman, Columbus, trailing. The tabulated precincts give Donahey, 440; Beatty, 88; Sandles, 54, and Kauffman 18.

Earl Bloom was ahead in the race for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor, while Young was leading for secretary of state. Pattison was favored for the nomination for state treasurer, while Zimmerman was setting the pace for the attorney general.

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of our dear mother, Elva N. McCoy, whom God called home just one year ago today, August 11, 1925, so sadly missed by Freddie and Verla.

How sweet and dear the name—
Mother;
One who answered life's highest call,
Who so faithfully and sincerely
Gave her life to mother us all.

A life so faithful and so humble.
One of meekness to the end;
In whose life the Christ-like spirit
Seemed to linger and descend.

She had lived the life God gave her,
When just one year ago today,
The gates of heaven swung wide open
And her soul was born away.

From our midst the angels gently
Carried her, on wings of love,
To a higher and better calling
In her heavenly home above.
FREDDIE AND VERLA McCOY.

Cooper and Donahey

Beatty Gets 276 in Lucas.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 11.—Myers Cooper carried Cuyahoga county by more than 5,000 votes over Thad Brown, complete unofficial returns of the county indicated today. These gave Cooper 19,529 to Brown's 14,196.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 11.—Complete official figures for Lucas county in Tuesday's election today gave Thad Brown, Republican, 7,771 votes and his opponent for the gubernatorial nomination, Myers Cooper, 2,120. Seiber received 1,476. W. W. Farnsworth got 10,744 for the Republican lieutenant-governorship against 843 for Davis. On the Democratic ticket Governor Vic Donahey got 4,223 votes to Beatty's 276. Brown Counts Returns.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11.—Thad Brown, present secretary of state and who was a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, today declined to concede his defeat by Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, who was leading him at noon by a wide margin.

Meanwhile Brown was superintending the counting and tabulating of returns from yesterday's primary.

Cooper is Grateful.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 11.—"I am very grateful to the electors of Ohio, and especially to those of Hamilton county who have so loyally supported me in the primary," declared Myers Y. Cooper, Hamilton county's aspirant to the governorship, today.

"I expect to immediately begin a vigorous campaign to bring the Republican party to victory in the November election," he concluded.

Home Town Appreciates Cooper.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 11.—The old saying that a man never is appreciated in "his own home town" failed to hold good when Republican citizens of Cincinnati and Hamilton county went to the polls yesterday to choose a candidate for the governorship of Ohio.

As a result, Myers Y. Cooper, the Hamilton county offering in that race, was leagues ahead of contenders in the county returns today.

Cooper was credited with 31,684 votes when the returns of 634 of the county's 638 precincts had been counted. His nearest contender was Harry S. Day, who had 16,843 votes chalked up for him.

Donahey carried the Democratic ticket with an overwhelming majority.

Victory Motors' Bat Bombardment Turns Back Turk-Nash, 8-7

Strobel Leads Drive With Four Safe Hits; Howell Clouted Hard

"Cracker" is Derricked In Seventh With Two on; Successive Singles by Robinson and Strobel Off Deshler Score Winning Runs.

AFTER faltering on the paths and on the twirling hillock, "Hen" Strobel, long an East Liverpool baseball veteran, turned in and swatted the Victory Motors to a City League victory over the strong Turk-Nash team at Patterson Field last evening. He was responsible for five runs that his club made, and had a perfect day at the bat with two doubles, a triple and a single in four times at the plate. His final rap, a one-base blow to right, drove over the trying and winning runs despite the fact that "Sonny" Deshler, the opposition ace, had taken Howell's place to save the contest. The final count was 8 to 7.

The score was 7 to 5 when, with darkness gathering, Victory Motor came up for their final stick activity in the first of the seventh. Cracker Howell, he of the submarine delivery, had held the auto aggregation up until the time. V. Bailey was up and he drove one to J. Watson that was too hard to handle. Buzzard drew four wide ones. Manager Alcock beckoned the diminutive twirler to the bench and sent out Deshler, first half league leader, to keep the runners on the bags. It was a big assignment.

Sainor hit a wicked fly to right-middle which A. Bayley, by a great run and compelling play, captured. The runners had not moved. The situation then was up to "Robbie," the Motors' catcher whose work has put the club in the running during the second half. He already had negotiated a single and a double in three tries. Again he smote the ball, this time to left field for a single on which V. Bailey crossed the plate. On the throw-in Buzzard reached third and "Robbitt," suffering from an injured leg, hobbled to second. The standing was 7 to 6 as C. Coleman walked into the picture. But he was called out on strikes and two were gone.

Strobel Clears Paths.

Then "Hen" Strobel cinched every claim for being the hero of the contest. With three safe blows already to his credit, he swung and drove the ball to far right along the base line. Before E. Mundy could recover and get the ball to Schneidmiller even the slow running Robinson had followed Buzzard across the plate, evening the scoring and going beyond it by one run. Haught then grounded to Talbot.

Determined to at least tie, Turk-Nash faced "Lefty" Sainor. Though he had pitched against Chester the night before Sainor was stronger at the close than at the beginning of the game. He at once fanned Schneidmiller, first man up. He walked D. Morgan, who stole second, but he caused Talbot to pop to Coleman and J. Watson to fly to Buzzard and the game, going the limit, was over.

With S. Soleman on first in the sixth and H. Strobel on third, the former essayed a delayed steal so as to permit the latter to score. He apparently hesitated too long for he was caught at the plate. But what did it matter? He had done his share of that day's work.

"Hen" led both clubs in batting with four hits, followed by Robinson with three in four tries and A. Bayley, of Turk-Nash, with a like number.

NEWELL LOSES AT WELLSVILLE

Four Hits Bunched Off Thomas in Fourth.

WELLSVILLE defeated Laughlin at Central park last evening, 8 to 6.

English was touched for four hits in the fourth inning. With the tying runs on the bases Thomas succeeded him. Two hits of him and an error by Finley spelled a loss for the West Virginians, a rap by Morris being effective in getting the necessary runs over—the latter with two safe drives in two times up had a perfect day at the bat.

Finley, with a double and two singles, in three appearances, led both Clubs in hitting.

Bub'n had two safe drives with Hunselman and Babb one each.

Kestner fanned six Laughlin batters.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON.

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

It is instinctive in the golf swing to "want to help" with the body. This instinct for putting the body into the blow is what fools many players, because this instinct has to be governed and changed into an instinct to put the club into the blow. There is a vast difference between swinging the body and swinging the club, but once the golfer will govern his actions just enough to give him a feel of the club swinging he will quickly sense the difference. The body moves forward easily, without any effort what ever, as the club starts forward, and the player whips the club into the ball wholly with his shoulders, arms and wrists. The body should have a feeling of being pulled through after the clubhead.

Jack-Gene Carry On With Battle Plans

Rickard Scheduled for Session Today With Col. Phelan; Issuance of License for Sept. 16 Scrap Now Mere Formality.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Serene in the belief that what should have been done yesterday will be duly accomplished today, Tex Rickard and Jack Dempsey will make another pilgrimage to the flatiron building this morning for Dempsey's elusive license and what they understand to be a definite engagement with Col. John J. Phelan. The latter may deny this but, after what happened yesterday, he can deny the day of the week and it will be quite all right with me.

The boys must have their joke and I, for one, will laugh just as soon as I can get around to it.

Granting that Rickard knows his canned goods about this supposed engagement, the existence of which Phelen denies, the first thing the promoter will do is produce the Dempsey-Tunney contract, which was in the process of being drafted this morning. The license will be issued automatically. Even the Colonel doesn't deny this.

In fact, it was its absence that he seized upon yesterday for the intended purpose of putting a good face upon a bad situation. He merely succeeded in making the bad situation a trifle worse.

He sat in a tough spot, so he concluded it would be well to quote the boxing rules in effect here on the subject of champions. When he got that far, he already had committed his first of a series of mounmental faux pas. It was not his wish to declare for Harry Wills; in fact, the Colonel was there to tender Wills the merry run-around.

But he seemed to forget that Wills has been the only official challenger here since the Firpo bout. Tunney never got a challenge across, but did even better than that. He lined up the champion personally.

Phelan's next irreconcilable statement was that Dempsey couldn't be allowed to sign such a contract here because he was an unlicensed boxer. In so doing the colonel overlooked the fact that Harry Greb only asked for a license a few hours before his fight with Tiger Flowers. By that time, Greb had signed a contract by some weeks had finished his training and had just been weighed in under the official inspection of the commission.

Add to this his rambling dissertation on the fact that any challenger's name on the Dempsey contract would do, thus creating a precedent for any and all unwilling champions of the future, and his summoning of Harry Wills in order to establish the fact that Wills already had been taken care of by that Indiana contract and you have the colonel at his worst. He, of course was the goat for the entire proceedings, but, even so, it didn't seem necessary to live the part by bleating.

Why didn't he throw a "natural" by merely stating that he couldn't deny a license to a boxer who had just been returned to good standing?

Anyhow, the colonel has lived his moment and the good word is that after this business today, of which he seems to know little, he can be himself again and happier for it.

CHAMPS WIND UP THEIR TRAINING

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. — Two world's champions—Charley Phil Rosenberg and Fidel La Barba—today reached the final stages of training for their pugilistic debuts here in the Cub ball park Friday night.

Rosenberg will meet Joey Sangor, of Milwaukee, and La Barba is matched with Emil Paluso, of Salt Lake City. Both bouts are scheduled for 10 rounds to a decision. Rosenberg's bantam title and La Barba's flyweight crown will not be at stake.

Both title holders rule favorites in their bouts, although Rosenberg's chances for victory are considered better than those of La Barba.

Ken Williams' sixteenth homer of the season enabled the Browns to down the Red Sox, 6 to 4.

Extra Pleasure from an Extra Process

Even without the toasting process, LUCKY STRIKES would rank as very fine cigarettes.

It would be a fine cigarette because it is made of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, perfectly aged and blended.

But the costly extra process of toasting lifts LUCKY STRIKES out of the ordinary, gives LUCKY STRIKES three distinctive features.

Toasting at high heat for 45 minutes (1) removes all "bite" and harshness and (2) develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. Then (3) sudden chilling seals in these flavors and the proper degree of moisture which keeps them always fresh.

"IT'S TOASTED" represents a costly extra process that adds the finishing touch to a wonderfully fine cigarette.

BECAUSE IT'S TOASTED

That's Why Luckies Taste So Good

Victory Motors' Bat Bombardment Turns Back Turk-Nash, 8-7

Strobel Leads Drive With Four Safe Hits; Howell Clouted Hard

"Cracker" is Derricked In Seventh With Two on; Successive Singles by Robinson and Strobel Off Deshler Score Winning Runs.

AFTER faltering on the paths and on the twirling hillock. "Hen" Strobel, long an East Liverpool baseball veteran, turned in and swatted the Victory Motors to a City League victory over the strong Turk-Nash team at Patterson Field last evening. He was responsible for five runs that his club made, and had a perfect day at the bat with two doubles, a triple and a single in four times at the plate. His final rap, a one-base blow to right, drove over the trying and winning runs despite the fact that "Sonny" Deshler, the opposition ace, had taken Howell's place to save the contest. The final count was 8 to 7.

The score was 7 to 5 when, with darkness gathering, Victory Motor came up for their final stick activity in the first of the seventh. Cracker Howell, he of the submarine delivery, had held the auto aggregation up until the time. V. Bailey was up and he drove one to J. Watson that was too hard to handle. Buzzard drew four wide ones. Manager Alcock beckoned the diminutive twirler to the bench and sent out Deshler, first half league leader, to keep the runners on the bags. It was a big assignment.

Sainor hit a wicked fly to right-middle which A. Bayley, by a great run and compelling play, captured. The runners had not moved. The situation then was up to "Robbie," the Motors' catcher whose work has put the club in the running during the second half. He already had negotiated a single and a double in three tries. Again he smote the ball, this time to left field for a single on which V. Bailey crossed the plate. On the throw-in Buzzard reached third and "Robbitt," suffering from an injured leg, hobbled to second. The standing was 7 to 6 as C. Coleman walked into the picture. But he was called out on strikes and two were gone.

Strobel Clears Paths.

Then "Hen" Strobel cinched every claim for being the hero of the contest. With three safe blows already to his credit, he swung and drove the ball to far right along the base line. Before E. Mundy could recover and get the ball to Schneidmiller even the slow running Robinson had followed Buzzard across the plate, evening the scoring and going beyond it by one run. Haught then grounded to Talbot.

Determined to at least tie, Turk-Nash faced "Lefty" Sainor. Though he had pitched against Chester the night before Sainor was stronger at the close than at the beginning of the game. He at once fanned Schneidmiller, first man up. He walked D. Morgan, who stole second, but he caused Talbot to pop to Coleman and J. Watson to fly to Buzzard and the game, going the limit, was over.

With S. Soleman on first in the sixth and H. Strobel on third, the former essayed a delayed steal so as to permit the latter to score. He apparently hesitated too long for he was caught at the plate. But what did it matter? He had done his share of that day's work.

"Hen" led both clubs in batting with four hits, followed by Robinson with three in four tries and A. Bayley, of Turk-Nash, with a like number.

WELLSVILLE defeated Laughlin at Central park last evening, 8 to 6.

English was touched for four hits in the fourth inning. With the tying runs on the bases Thomas succeeded him. Two hits of him and an error by Finley spelled a loss for the West Virginians, a rap by Morris being effective in getting the necessary runs over—the latter with two safe drives in two times up had a perfect day at the bat.

Finley, with a double and two singles, in three appearances, led both Clubs in hitting.

Bub'n had two safe drives with Hunselman and Babb one each.

Kestner fanned six Laughlin batters.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON.

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

It is instinctive in the golf swing to "want to help" with the body. This instinct for putting the body into the blow is what fools many players, because this instinct has to be governed and changed into an instinct to put the club into the blow. There is a vast difference between swinging the body and swinging the club, but once the golfer will govern his actions just enough to give him a feel of the club swinging he will quickly sense the difference. The body moves forward easily, without any effort what ever, as the club starts forward, and the player whips the club into the ball wholly with his shoulders, arms and wrists. The body should have a feeling of being pulled through after the clubhead.

Schalk to Observe 14th Anniversary As Major Catcher

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—Ray Schalk, Chicago White Sox catcher, will celebrate his fourteenth anniversary as a big league catcher here this afternoon by catching the opening game of the White Sox-Indian series.

On the morning of Aug. 11, 1912, Schalk reported to the White Sox from the Milwaukee American Association team. Since joining the Sox, Schalk has caught some of the game's greatest pitchers and participated in more than 1,700 championship games in the American league.

Jack-Gene Carry On With Battle Plans

Rickard Scheduled for Session Today With Col. Phelan; Issuance of License for Sept. 16 Scrap Now Mere Formality.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Serene in the belief that what should have been done yesterday will be duly accomplished today, Tex Rickard and Jack Dempsey will make another pilgrimage to the flatiron building this morning for Dempsey's elusive license and what they understand to be a definite engagement with Col. John J. Phelan. The latter may deny this but, after what happened yesterday, he can deny the day of the week and it will be quite all right with me.

The boys must have their joke and I, for one, will laugh just as soon as I can get around to it.

Granting that Rickard knows his canned goods about this supposed engagement, the existence of which Phelen denies, the first thing the promoter will do is produce the Dempsey-Tunney contract, which was in the process of being drafted this morning. The license will be issued automatically. Even the Colonel doesn't deny this.

In fact, it was its absence that he seized upon yesterday for the intended purpose of putting a good face upon a bad situation. He merely succeeded in making the bad situation a trifle worse.

He sat in a tough spot, so he concluded it would be well to quote the boxing rules in effect here on the subject of champions. When he got that far, he already had committed his first of a series of mounmental faux pas. It was not his wish to declare for Harry Wills; in fact, the Colonel was there to tender Wills the merry run-around.

But he seemed to forget that Wills has been the only official challenger here since the Firpo bout. Tunney never got a challenge across, but did even better than that. He lined up the champion personally.

Phelan's next irreconcilable statement was that Dempsey couldn't be allowed to sign such a contract here because he was an unlicensed boxer. In so doing the colonel overlooked the fact that Harry Greb only asked for a license a few hours before his fight with Tiger Flowers. By that time, Greb had signed a contract by some weeks, had finished his training and had just been weighed in under the official inspection of the commission.

Add to this his rambling dissertation on the fact that any challenger's name on the Dempsey contract would do, thus creating a precedent for any and all unwilling champions of the future, and his summoning of Harry Wills in order to establish the fact that Wills already had been taken care of by that Indiana contract and you have the colonel at his worst. He, of course was the goat for the entire proceedings, but, even so, it didn't seem necessary to live the part by bleating.

Why didn't he throw a "natural" by merely stating that he couldn't deny a license to a boxer who had just been returned to good standing?

Anyhow, the colonel has lived his moment and the good word is that after this business today, of which he seems to know little, he can be himself again and happier for it.

FLAG RIVALS PLAY THURSDAY

Chester-Turk Nash Battle Billed at West End Lot.

Turk-Nash and Chester, last half pennant rivals, are scheduled to clash at Patterson field, Thursday evening.

Sonny Deshler and Mike Cebula doubtlessly will duel from the hilltop.

The contest, classified as one of the many "crucial" engagements of the season, will start at 5:45 o'clock in order to give the club a chance to go the limit.

A big crowd is expected out.

CHAMPS WIND UP THEIR TRAINING

CHICAGO, Aug. 11. — Two world's champions—Charley Phil Rosenberg and Fidel La Barba—today reached the final stages of training for their pugilistic debuts here in the Cub ball park Friday night.

Rosenberg will meet Joey Sangor, of Milwaukee, and La Barba is matched with Emil Paluso, of Salt Lake City. Both bouts are scheduled for 10 rounds to a decision. Rosenberg's bantam title and La Barba's flyweight crown will not be at stake.

Both title holders rule favorites in their bouts, although Rosenberg's chances for victory are considered better than those of La Barba.

Ken Williams' sixteenth homer of the season enabled the Browns to down the Red Sox, 6 to 4.

Extra Pleasure from an Extra Process

Even without the toasting process, LUCKY STRIKES would rank as very fine cigarettes.

It would be a fine cigarette because it is made of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, perfectly aged and blended.

But the costly extra process of toasting lifts LUCKY STRIKES out of the ordinary, gives LUCKY STRIKES three distinctive features.

Toasting at high heat for 45 minutes (1) removes all "bite" and harshness and (2) develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. Then (3) sudden chilling seals in these flavors and the proper degree of moisture which keeps them always fresh.

"IT'S TOASTED" represents a costly extra process that adds the finishing touch to a wonderfully fine cigarette.

BECAUSE IT'S TOASTED
That's Why Luckies Taste So Good

caciques, or chiefs, and that in extending his settlement to get enough food to sustain it, he would probably have to exterminate all the Indians he met. Other early Spanish fighters recorded that these men stood their ground and fought until superior weapons and armor wiped them out.

The collections at the National Museum now contain a considerable and comprehensive exhibit of the culture of southeastern Panama. They include the domestic and agricultural implements, building materials and uses of cane and bamboo, domestic utensils, hammocks, stools, and children's toys. There are also examples of the weapons of the tribes dating back to very ancient times. These include also their canoes and paddles, their fishing tackle and harpoons. Bows and arrows, spears darts, and knives of wood and metal are among their weapons, and they were early users of the blowpipe and dart, including the practice of poisoning their darts.

Their pottery is very diverse, indicating a relatively high culture, and their wood carving quite extensive. Many fine examples of this are in the Museum collection. Carved staffs were the insignia of office of their chiefs, and were also widely used by their medicine men in the arts of healing and magic. They were weavers of baskets, of which the Museum has a large number, and also used bark and grasses for clothing and did some weaving with a sort of native cotton. Examples of their flutes and drums are also in the collection.

An interesting feature of the life of these tribes is an ancient religious belief in a universal inundation, or flood, from which they believe but six persons were spared, the founders of their tribes. These six were a man and woman of white skin, of light brown, and of dark brown. The former are accounted for because there are a number of semi-albinos, or "white Indians" among the Tule and Cuna tribes. They relate that following the great flood these six people came down from the high mountains and founded their race. In other respects their beliefs are in a Great Spirit and something akin to the "happy hunting ground" of many other Indian peoples.

caciques, or chiefs, and that in extending his settlement to get enough food to sustain it, he would probably have to exterminate all the Indians he met. Other early Spanish fighters recorded that these men stood their ground and fought until superior weapons and armor wiped them out.

The collections at the National Museum now contain a considerable and comprehensive exhibit of the culture of southeastern Panama. They include the domestic and agricultural implements, building materials and uses of cane and bamboo, domestic utensils, hammocks, stools, and children's toys. There are also examples of the weapons of the tribes dating back to very ancient times. These include also their canoes and paddles, their fishing tackle and harpoons. Bows and arrows, spears darts, and knives of wood and metal are among their weapons, and they were early users of the blowpipe and dart, including the practice of poisoning their darts.

Their pottery is very diverse, indicating a relatively high culture, and their wood carving quite extensive. Many fine examples of this are in the Museum collection. Carved staffs were the insignia of office of their chiefs, and were also widely used by their medicine men in the arts of healing and magic. They were weavers of baskets, of which the Museum has a large number, and also used bark and grasses for clothing and did some weaving with a sort of native cotton. Examples of their flutes and drums are also in the collection.

An interesting feature of the life of these tribes is an ancient religious belief in a universal inundation, or flood, from which they believe but six persons were spared, the founders of their tribes. These six were a man and woman of white skin, of light brown, and of dark brown. The former are accounted for because there are a number of semi-albinos, or "white Indians" among the Tule and Cuna tribes. They relate that following the great flood these six people came down from the high mountains and founded their race. In other respects their beliefs are in a Great Spirit and something akin to the "happy hunting ground" of many other Indian peoples.

Florida Town Bans School Teachers Who are Dancers

BLOUNTSTOWN, Fla.—"Down with the dance!" is the cry of Calhoun county school board. At its last meeting the board decided that teachers who dance or encourage dancing will not be permitted to teach in county school.

The school board's dictum reads: "No teachers who dance or encourage same shall be allowed to teach in the public schools of Calhoun county if said dancing is participated in at any time from Monday to Friday night. All teachers will be required to sign a contract agreeing to conform to this rule."

Members of the board declare that of late many school teachers have been tripping the light fantastic to an excessive degree with damaging results to the progress of their pupils.

Florida Town Bans School Teachers Who are Dancers

BLOUNTSTOWN, Fla.—"Down with the dance!" is the cry of Calhoun county school board. At its last meeting the board decided that teachers who dance or encourage dancing will not be permitted to teach in county school.

The school board's dictum reads: "No teachers who dance or encourage same shall be allowed to teach in the public schools of Calhoun county if said dancing is participated in at any time from Monday to Friday night. All teachers will be required to sign a contract agreeing to conform to this rule."

Members of the board declare that of late many school teachers have been tripping the light fantastic to an excessive degree with damaging results to the progress of their pupils.
